Message from the President

Greetings!

I am so glad you have chosen to be a part of Western Theological Seminary, a Christ-centered community of learning that seeks to form women and men for faithful Christian ministry and participation in the Triune God's ongoing redemptive work in the world. We seek to foster a learning community that facilitates the formation of the whole person, and in doing so fulfill the greatest commandments—to love the Lord your God with all our hearts, all our soul, all our mind and all our strength, and to love our neighbors as ourselves.

Western Theological Seminary has equipped students for Christian service since 1866. It is my hope and desire that we will continue to prepare future leaders who will be ready to lead God's church in an increasingly diverse, pluralistic and secularizing world. It is also my hope that we will continue to produce students who cultivate Christian wisdom.

Thank you for responding to God's call in your life and thank you for choosing Western Theological Seminary to be a significant part of your formation and preparation. May the Lord guide you, lead you, and sustain you during your studies here.

Blessings,

Dr. Felix Theonugraha President

Our Identity

Western Theological Seminary is an evangelical and ecumenical community of faith and learning in the Reformed tradition that serves the church of Jesus Christ. In covenant with the Reformed Church in America, Western equips men and women for Christcentered, biblically based, theologically integrated, culturally competent, mission-oriented Christian leadership.

Our Mission

By God's grace, Western Theological Seminary forms women and men for faithful Christian ministry and participation in the Triune God's ongoing redemptive work in the world.

Ecumenical

We welcome students from many Christian traditions, and we offer graduate degree programs as well as continuing education for clergy and lay leaders in the church.

The Curriculum

We center our curriculum on the Bible—its languages, history, themes, and interpretation. Built upon that foundation are studies in theology, ethics, pastoral care and counseling, preaching, worship, the history and traditions of the church and more.

Practical, Hands-On Approach

Throughout our degree programs, we are committed to teaching with attentiveness to the context of ministry. In some of our programs, you can also place your classroom learning in a ministry context as you work concurrently in a semester- or summer-long internship.

Statement of Theological Identity

Preamble

Western Theological Seminary, as led by the board of trustees, the administration and the faculty, sincerely confesses the historic Christian faith, approached from within the Reformed tradition. We celebrate as well our commonality in Christ with Christians of other denominations and of no denomination. As such, we welcome students from a variety of Christian traditions and partnerships from a range of Christian ministries, without requiring them to agree with these faculty commitments. And yet, we also embrace the Reformed tradition as a gift to the larger church. In light of Western Theological Seminary's mission and identity, together with our faculty statement on women in ministry, we present this as a statement of our faculty commitments as we teach, write, and serve Christ's church.

Commitment to the Historic Christian Faith

Together with the church through the ages, we worship and glorify the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, gladly confessing God as Trinity as expressed in the Apostles' Creed and the Nicene-Constantinopolitan creed. We confess that Jesus Christ is God incarnate, fully God and fully human in one person, the one mediator and Savior of the world. He was conceived by the Holy Spirit and born of the Virgin Mary, living in perfect communion with the Father. He was crucified under Pontius Pilate and arose bodily from the grave. He ascended into heaven from where he reigns over all things as living Lord and serves as our high priest and advocate. In his incarnation, life, death, resurrection, and ascension, Christ redeems us from our sin, and wins victory over the finality of death and the powers of darkness. Christ will come again to judge the living and the dead, and to establish the fullness of his reign in the new creation.

Through the work of the Holy Spirit, we receive forgiveness and new life in Christ to live as adopted children of the Father. Trusting in the Spirit rather than our own strength or righteousness, we seek to live lives that love God supremely and others sacrificially as we participate in the redeeming work that the Spirit is doing in all of creation. We proclaim the gospel with love and boldness, calling people from all nations to repentance, faith, and new life in Jesus Christ by the power of the Spirit. The Spirit joins us to the body of Christ, the church, through which we are nourished by word and sacrament and sent out in mission. We are called to seek reconciliation of the alienated in Christ, to pursue justice for the poor and the oppressed, and to care well for God's good creation. Until Christ returns to make all things new, we hope in God's promise and lament sin and injustice, we sing for joy and cry tears of sorrow, praying for God's kingdom to come on earth as it is in heaven.

Commitment to the Reformed Theological Tradition

We embrace the Reformed theological tradition as our way of confessing the historic Christian faith. We believe that the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments are the word of God. The Bible is the supreme authority in faith and life, infallible in what it intends to teach. Illumined by the Holy Spirit, the Scriptures are central to our life, for we encounter the living God as we receive them in myriad ways, including as we hear, read, sing, study, and meditate upon them. We also accept these Reformed confessions – the Belgic Confession, the Heidelberg Catechism, the Canons of Dort, and the Belhar Confession – as secondary authorities, and as historic and faithful witnesses to the word of God in Scripture. They exposit the historic Christian faith, expressing distinctive Reformed positions on the sacraments, salvation, the church, and many other points of doctrine. Recognizing that not all of our partners in ministry share a commitment to these Reformed confessions, we seek to act generously toward those who belong to other Christian traditions, especially as this relates to doctrines in dispute. Nevertheless, we celebrate the wide and spacious scope of Reformed doctrine expressed in the Reformed confessions, and we value them as witnesses to the gospel and to God's word in Scripture. We seek to learn from others, as we also eagerly share the gifts of the Reformed tradition for the larger church.

Embodying our Faith

We also understand that Christian traditions are not simply things of the past but are lived out in communities of faith empowered by the Holy Spirit to live according to the word of God to the glory of the Father in the present. Therefore, we are also committed to faithfully and creatively embodying the historic treasures we have received in our scholarship, teaching, and life together. We joyfully acknowledge that all that we do flows from worship and returns to worship. WTS is simultaneously an academic community and a worshiping community, committed to soaking in the word alongside our study of it and to celebrating the Lord's Supper every week in chapel. We also seek to be a community that gives and receives gospel hospitality in a variety of ways, such as the Community Kitchen, the Friendship House, and our growing ecumenical, intercultural, and international connections. These commitments flow from our calling to be a deeply formational community, inside and outside the classroom, across and beyond the teaching curriculum. In this way we seek to foster practices and ways of being that will enable students to be formed as faithful disciples of Jesus Christ and to engage faithfully in a variety of ministries. In these ways and more, we desire to live out our historic Christian and Reformed identity in ways that are faithful, creative, generative, and generous.

Statement on Forming Women for Ministry

Western Theological Seminary is committed to the admission and education of students without discrimination on the basis of sex. Throughout Scripture, we see God calling and appointing women to teach, preach, and lead God's people. We uphold the biblical witness as we prepare women and men to lead the church in mission. This is also expressed in our covenant with the Reformed Church in America, a denomination that upholds the full participation of women in the life and ministry of the church. As a faculty, we also want to declare clearly our unwavering and unanimous commitment to the education and ordination of women for all forms of ministry to which they have been called by God—whether inside or outside the church—including the Ministry of Word and Sacrament. In welcoming women students to all of its programs and encouraging women in their vocations, we as an institution have a steadfast commitment to the women we welcome, which includes our commitment to establish an environment in which their education and calling will be properly nurtured and affirmed. We expect all who join our faculty to abide by this commitment.

At the same time, we recognize that the role of women and the status of the leadership and ordination of women is a point of disagreement in many denominations, churches, Christian organizations, and among some of our students. We are dedicated to being a community that upholds academic freedom and the free discussion of ideas inside and outside the classroom when done in the spirit of faith seeking understanding. We do not believe that differences of opinion on this matter should keep Christians from maintaining fellowship with one another or celebrating the Lord's Supper together. Therefore, we welcome men and women students who hold different views on the matter of the role and ministries of women and seek to support all of our students in their God-given callings. We also want to nurture ties with churches and institutions that hold different views. We do expect, however, that all students, regardless of their personal convictions, will acknowledge the full rights and status of all their fellow students in their degree program, regardless of sex.

Maintaining these commitments well requires practical wisdom. May the triune God pour bountiful wisdom and grace on our entire community as we all—students, staff, board of trustees, and faculty—seek to follow the one who prayed "that they be completely one, so that the world may know that you have sent me and have loved them even as you have loved me" (John 17:23).

Statement on Racial and Ethnic Diversity

Summary

From the very beginning, scripture is clear that all people are created in the image of God without distinction of race or ethnicity (e.g. Gen 1:26-28; Gen 9:6) and that the blessings of God are for all peoples and nations (e.g. Gen 12:1-3, Isa 2:1-4). Above all, we see that for all who are in Christ, there are no grounds for division based on ethnicity or race. Race is a purely cultural construct, although it exerts tremendous power in the world. Our identity in Christ incorporates and celebrates our social identities such as race and ethnicity. We are united to Christ by the Spirit through faith, such that none may boast over another (Gal 3:26-29; Eph 2: 11-22; Col 3: 11); and yet our one-ness in Christ also includes our distinct racial and ethnic identities, which was God's intentional design and will continue to be affirmed and celebrated into the eschaton (e.g. Rev 7: 9-10).

At Western Theological Seminary we long to embody more fully that to which the gospel calls us, and of which our standards remind us, with regard to racial and ethnic diversity. We affirm the biblical practices of peacemaking and racial reconciliation. God calls us to love our neighbors and to be agents of reconciliation in the world.

We are also committed to the biblical practices of justice. We strive to grow in in racial reconciliation and justice by embodying the biblical value of mutuality. We desire to facilitate true equality among all our members of various ethnic, gender, and racial backgrounds. We commit to relating to one another with honor, fairness, and respect.

Finally, we affirm in Christ-centered unity-in-diversity. We seek to provide an educational context through which our students will learn to lead and serve in diverse intercultural and international contexts. We strive to become a Christ-centered learning community that is racially and ethnically diverse. We also commit to be a hospitable learning community that provide opportunities for students to learn from and with those who come from different backgrounds.

It is our hope that through these commitments, students will experience formative and transformative experiences that equip them to become more faithful Christians and leaders in this world.

The Rationale

Our Reformed confessional standards remind us that the church cannot be delimited by any particular place or people (Belgic Confession, Article 27); that [all followers of Christ are] called to proclaim the gospel without differentiation or discrimination to all nations and people (Canons of Dordt, Second Main Point of Doctrine, Article 5); and that it is the gift and the obligation of the church to embody racial-ethnic unity-in-diversity, rejoicing in the variety of gifts that this brings to the body, and resisting whatever leads towards division along racial-ethnic lines (The Belhar Confession).

As a seminary, we confess our struggle to live into this well, individually and as an institution, and the ways that we have created an environment that has been unwelcoming, frustrating, and discouraging for people who come from outside our predominantly white environment. We confess that we have not done enough to eliminate systems, policies, and practices that have upheld our status quo.

We therefore offer the following summary of what we affirm, what we reject, and what we seek to commit ourselves to, as individuals and as a community. We do this in order that we might live more deeply into this aspect of our calling, as those united to Christ and one another by the Spirit and looking towards the fullness of the coming reign of God.

1) We affirm that all human beings are in the image of God, and we uphold the full dignity and worth of all people of all racial and ethnic identities.

We therefore reject any direct or indirect discrimination against, and devaluing or dishonoring of, any person on the grounds of race or ethnicity. In the power and under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, we commit to eliminating all forms of racial prejudice, individually and in our institutional culture.

2) We affirm that God's people are called to be a channel of God's blessing to all nations, and that God's promises and purposes in Christ are for all people without racial or ethnic distinction.

We therefore reject historic and contemporary ways of articulating and embodying the gospel that reinforce notions of white supremacy, and that privilege aspects of one racial or ethnic identity over another.

In the power and under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, we commit to embodying our identity as a Reformed, evangelical, ecumenical community in ways that are alert to how our predominantly white heritage has shaped us, and we commit to seeking to eliminate ways that this heritage has distorted our presentation of the gospel and our community life.

3) We affirm that in the Old Testament, Jesus' ministry, and in the New Testament church as it is empowered by the Spirit after his ascension, God crosses boundaries and welcomes those whom the majority culture regards as 'strangers,' such that distinctions remain, but walls of hostility and division are broken down. God, therefore, challenges thrones of unjust privilege such that all might have a chance to flourish.

We therefore reject expressions of Christian community that foster insularity rather than engagement and that uphold privilege that excludes rather than embracing all. We also reject notions of one-ness in Christ that tend towards the assimilation of diverse cultures within the dominant culture.

In the power and under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, we commit to encouraging people of all races and ethnicities to join the WTS community, and to becoming a more truly hospitable place, such that people of all races and ethnicities feel genuinely welcomed, their distinctive contributions are valued, and their presence has a transforming influence on the community. We commit to fostering a healthy campus climate by providing intentional support to enable the flourishing of those who come to Western from outside the historically white-dominant culture.

4) We affirm that in the fullness of the coming kingdom, multitudes from every race and ethnicity will glorify God together with equal voice.

We therefore reject the marginalizing of non-white voices in the present such that the critical and constructive contributions of people of all races and ethnicities to Christian life, worship, and teaching is side-lined.

In the power and under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, we commit to a greater eagerness to hear from, learn with, and share the voices of people of diverse races and ethnicities whose contributions have often been absent from or marginalized in our life and teaching at WTS.

Conclusion

In this, and in all our commitments, we seek to glorify the Triune God, at Western Theological Seminary, in our churches and ministries, and in the wider world, in ways that more closely approximate the communion with the Triune God and one another that we will share in the life to come.

Policy on Non-Harassment and Non-Discrimination (including Title IX)

It is the purpose of Western Theological Seminary to form women and men for faithful Christian ministry and participation in the Triune God's ongoing redemptive work in the world. Toward this end, WTS seeks to foster a community of faith and Rayetta Perez Director of Administration and Human Resources and Title IX Coordinator learning that reflects the Kingdom of God, allowing for the flourishing of all its members in Jesus Christ.

As we strive for this ideal, we acknowledge that because we are sinful individuals, we are also a fallen community, influenced by old habits and hidden prejudices. There are times when we harm others through our words, actions, and even institutional policies and traditions. There are circumstances in which we fail to do justice or love mercy. In such instances, we commit to face our wrongdoing; to listen, to talk, to pray, and when we fall short, to confess our sin and accept God's forgiveness as we seek understanding, justice, healing, and reconciliation.

It is to this end that the WTS Policy on Non-Harassment and Non-Discrimination has been developed in alignment with legal requirements of Title IX, the state of Michigan, and the seminary's Vision of our Life Together. We seek not only to fulfill requirements of the law, but also by God's grace and direction, to live and grow as members of a community of faith and learning that seeks to faithfully and fully love God and one other.

Notice of Non-Discrimination

Western Theological Seminary does not discriminate in admissions, employment, and educational programs on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex, marital or family status, disability, height, weight, genetic information, and other prohibited characteristics in accordance with applicable federal, state, and local laws and ordinances.

As a religious institution, the seminary reserves the right to make employment and hiring decisions on the basis of religious criteria, based on the Free Exercise Clause of the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and various relevant statutes.

Housing

Housing options at Western seek to build community among students.

Townhouses

WTS Red Brick townhouses are designed for single occupancy, co-tenants, and families. They encircle a commons area with picnic tables, a playground, and plenty of room for gatherings. The townhouses are available in 1, 2, and 3 bedroom units, and each includes air-conditioning, a washer and dryer, as well as major kitchen appliances.

The Friendship House

Because more than 40 million Americans live with a disability, WTS decided to do more to prepare our students to work with these individuals and their families. In 2007 the Ralph and Cheryl Schregardus Friendship House opened, offering students a unique housing option—the opportunity to live alongside a young adult with a cognitive disability. This was the first residence of its kind among seminaries across the U.S.

The Ralph and Cheryl Schregardus Friendship House accommodates 18 seminary students (including a resident director) and six people with cognitive impairments. Each special-needs adult shares an apartment with three seminary students, engaging in friendships yet functioning independently. By living with people who have cognitive impairments, Western students become more aware of the challenges faced by persons with a variety of disabilities. Students who live in the Friendship House take their experiences into the church—influencing congregations and ministries with the care and sensitivity persons with special needs deserve.

Applying for Housing

After being accepted to Western and submitting a $250 confirmation fee, students can apply for housing by contacting the Business Office at 800-392-8554, x105 or jon.dockery@westernsem.edu. Housing is awarded per the Housing Policy on a first-come, first-served basis.

Pricing

For WTS students, townhouse, and rentals range from $796 to $996 per month in 2023-2024, depending upon the location and number of bedrooms. A bedroom in the Friendship House rents for $332 for WTS students. Utilities may be included in rent as described in the respective rental agreements.

Financial Information

Western's financial aid program is designed to help students meet their educational expenses as they prepare for Christian ministry.

For a full-time in-residence M.Div. or M.A. student, the total cost of educational and living expenses for nine months ranges from around $19,000 for single students to approximately $34,000 for married students. Full-time distance learning M.Div. or M.A. students can expect educational, traveling, and living expenses around $28,000 per year (single) or $36,000 (with dependents). Living costs are variable for students in this program and depend upon regional factors.

Payment Arrangements

Degree seeking candidates:

Students receive a tuition statement after the drop/add date. Changes to your class schedule do not affect your financial award percentage, such as reducing your credit hours.

Payment is due about 2 weeks after statements are published by one of three ways:

- 1) Cash, check, credit card
- 2) A student loan from the U.S. Dept. of Education (studentloans.gov) or through a private banking institution
- Payment plan. A $25 administrative fee will be charged for each semester the student is on a payment plan of 4 or less monthly payments.

Students cannot begin a new semester with an outstanding balance. WTS will not require an eligible student to borrow additional funds to meet financial obligation due to a delay of a payment by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs including penalty of late fees or denial of access to classes, libraries, or other institutional facilities.

Financial Aid

When a person applies for admission to the seminary, their financial awards will be determined and will carry through their entire program of study. Award letters are emailed within three weeks of the student being accepted.

If a student cannot match expected expenses with equivalent income, savings, and assistance from his or her home congregation or denomination, the next step is to complete the government's FAFSA forms at fafsa.ed.gov and contact the Financial Aid Coordinator to apply for a Need Based Award and/or federal student loan. Loans are granted through government programs but may also be procured through private banking institutions.

Financial aid awards, although presented as discounted percentages of tuition, are funded through endowed scholarships established by generous donors. Students are expected to thank their benefactors through written correspondence and may have the opportunity to meet them at annual scholarship gatherings. These awards range from 10% to 100% tuition reduction.

A student will bear no academic or financial penalty for any course dropped prior to that date. In the first three weeks after the drop date, students can receive a 60% refund. Starting week five until the last day to withdraw from a course, students can receive a 30% refund. If the course is dropped after the last day to withdraw from a course all tuition is deemed nonrefundable.

Academic Policy and Procedures

Statement of Educational Opportunity

Western Theological Seminary does not discriminate in admissions, employment, and educational programs on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex, marital status, disability, height, weight, genetic information, and other prohibited characteristics in accordance with applicable federal, state, and local laws and ordinances.

Academic Requirements for Admission

Applicants to the M.Div. and M.A. program and all applicants for certificate and non-degree seeking student status should have a Bachelor of Arts degree or its equivalent from an accredited college or university. Applicants to the Th.M. and D. Min. programs should have a M.Div. degree or its equivalent from an accredited theological seminary or divinity school.

Applicants must request that an official transcript of their college work be sent to the Western Theological Seminary admissions office for inclusion in the application file. A cumulative G.P.A. of 2.50 or above is required for admission. In certain instances, an applicant with a cumulative G.P.A. of less than 2.50 may be admitted on academic probation and upon satisfactory completion of the first semester's work, be matriculated. Students admitted on academic probation qualify for financial aid for one semester. A GPA of 2.50 must be achieved during that first semester to qualify for financial aid in subsequent semesters.

In accordance with ATS standards for the M.Div. degree, some applicants may be admitted without possession of the baccalaureate degree or its educational equivalent, if such candidates can demonstrate by some objective means that they possess the knowledge, academic skill, and ability generally associated with persons who hold the baccalaureate degree. Admission of such applicants is restricted to persons with life experience that has prepared them for theological study at the graduate level.

When considering applications from international students residing in countries outside of North America, the seminary weighs issues of access to theological training, English proficiency (see below, "English Proficiency for Applicants Whose First Language is Not English"), intercultural experience, and foundational preparation for ministry.

English Proficiency for Applicants Whose First Language is Not English

Applicants to Western Theological Seminary degree programs whose first language is not English may be asked to demonstrate their proficiency in English through the TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language) and TWE (Test of Written English) exams. Such a request is made by the degree program committee to which the student has applied. In such circumstances, scores of 550 on the written TOEFL 24 exam or 213 on the computer-based TOEFL exam, and 4 on the TWE exam are normally required for admission.

Student Financial Aid

The Financial Aid Administrator works with students to procure financial aid. Students will be given a financial aid award at admittance. A request for additional federal aid requires completion of the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Awards and discounts vary by program. Student loans are also available through the US Department of Education Direct Loan Program.

Federal Work Study

Federal Work Study (FWS) is a federally-funded financial aid program administered by Western Theological Seminary. FWS is designed to assist students in meeting the cost of higher education and accessing meaningful work. A work study job allows the student to work a number of hours at a certain wage rate and receive a biweekly paycheck which they may use at their discretion. It is recommended that the funds be used for tuition, books, or living expenses. The federal government may subsidizes a percentage of student wages earned in a FWS job. FWS is a need-based financial award. It is not a grant (you must work to earn it), and it is not a loan (you do not have to repay it). Students qualify for FWS by completing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and demonstrating financial need. The student must also be enrolled for the term in which they will be working. Funds are limited, so not every student who qualifies will receive FWS funds.

Ordination Procedures

Each denomination has its own procedures for enrolling, supervising, and examining candidates for ordination. M.Div. candidates should check with their pastors or denominational officers regarding specific instructions for ordination in their particular denomination.

Western Theological Seminary works in a close partnership with denominational boards and candidate committees responsible for the formation of men and women for ordained ministry.

Student Orientation

Online Orientation for new and transfer students will be available through Canvas 3-4 weeks prior to the start of classes. In-Person Orientation is open to all new and transfer students and will be held the week prior to the start of classes. For information about Th.M. Orientation, see the Th.M. handbook.

Transfer Course Policies

Transfer Credit

The seminary accepts credits earned at other ATS accredited seminaries or other select fully accredited graduate programs offering courses comparable to those at the seminary. WTS will accept up to 57 transfer credits for the M.Div. program, and 27 credits for the M.A. program, and 12 credits for a certificate (ATS Standard 3.12). Transfer credits are not usually available for the D.Min. program.

Courses with grades are eligible for transfer only if they receive a minimum grade of B- or its equivalent. Generally, WTS will not accept courses earned more than ten years prior to the start of a program. In most cases, non-theological credits will not be accepted as transfer credits. A student may petition for up to 6 of the total number of elective credits to be filled using transfer courses that lack an explicitly theological dimension (e.g., general counseling or education courses) for the M.Div program. The seminary will accept up to 6 credits in which the student earned a "pass" grade instead of a "letter" grade.

Requests for transfer credit must be accompanied by a copy of the catalog description for each course. In those instances, in which the catalog description is not adequate for determining if a course is transferable, a copy of the course syllabus may be required. Students seeking to take one or more courses at another seminary while enrolled at the seminary should consult with the VPAA, the Associate Dean, or the Registrar to determine whether or not the credit(s) will be transferable. The seminary transfers in the credit hours but not the grade earned, therefore, the GPA is not affected by transfer credits.

Student Registration

Students register with the Registrar for courses. Registration may be done for an entire academic year, or by semester. Changes in registration may be made until a given term has begun, at which time students are required to submit a drop/add request to the Registrar.

The Registrar provides each professor with an official class list based on student registration. Professors must notify the Registrar of corrections in their class lists by the first Friday of the term. Students are not permitted to attend classes in which they are not registered.

Any student whose financial account with the seminary is more than 90 days past due will not be permitted to register for courses until the account is brought up to date, or until a mutually acceptable repayment plan is worked out between the student and the VP of Finance.

Non-degree-seeking students are not permitted to register for more than 15 credits without explicit permission from the VPAA, which is only granted under unusual circumstances. They are also not permitted to register for directed studies or internship courses.

M.Div. and M.A. Advising

Academic advising for all M.Div. and M.A. students is overseen by the Registrar.

D. Min. Advising

The focused track, cohort-based nature of the Doctor of Ministry program allows for the lead faculty of a D.Min. cohort to serve as the primary faculty mentor to students in the cohort. The director of the D.Min program, with the consent of the VPAA, may assign other faculty mentors as deemed necessary.

Th.M. Advising

The Th.M. program director assigns faculty advisors for each Th.M. candidate, with the consent of the VPAA.

Advisors for Additional Programs

The Director of the Hispanic Ministry Program serves as the advisor for candidates in the Spanishlanguage GCPM. The Registrar serves as the advisor for candidates in the English-language GCPM.

The director of the GCDM serves as the advisor for candidates in this program.

The Registrar serves as the advisor to non-degree seeking students.

Drop/Adds/Withdraws

Students may withdraw from a course after the drop/add deadline by making a request to the Registrar. Students may receive a 100% tuition refund if a class is dropped during the drop/add period. After the drop/add period, withdrawal will result in a W grade. The exact days of the drop/add period are defined by the academic calendar. In the first three weeks after the drop/add period, students can receive a 60% refund if a class is dropped. Starting week five until the last day to withdraw from a course (end of 7th week), students can receive a 30% refund. After the last day to withdraw, no refund will be given and an F grade will be recorded.

Drop/Add Period	No grade listed	100% refund
End of D/A Period to end of fourth week	W	60% refund
Start of fifth week to last day to withdraw	W	30% refund
Last day to withdraw to end of semester	F	0% refund

Exceptions may be made for emergencies or other situations (such as mental health challenges, newly diagnosed learning disabilities, family crises) that are reviewed and approved by the VPAA. For courses that take place outside the normal semester format, refunds will be evaluated by the academic office.

Auditors

Auditors must contact the Registrar prior to the drop/add deadline to audit a class and are expected to attend regularly. Auditor status permits class attendance and participation in class activities. Admission to auditor status is granted by the academic office. Credit is not granted, and grades are not given for audited courses. Not all courses will accommodate auditors.

Criteria for Canceling a Course

When there are fewer than ten students registered for a course, the VPAA consults with the professor assigned to teach the course concerning cancellation of the course. The final decision regarding the cancellation of the course rests with the VPAA.

Relationship Between In-Residence and Distance Learning Courses

In-residence (IR) and distance learning (DL) courses are completely interchangeable for all degree programs, so students may take what works for their needs and schedule. However, some IR M.Div. financial aid awards do not allow for more than one DL course per semester. For that reason, M.Div. candidates should seek council from the academic office to determine financial aid eligibility and confirm course requirements.

Required Course Substitutions

Under certain conditions, students may petition the Academic Office to substitute a higher level course for a required course. These conditions include the student's previous educational experience, and the availability of required courses. A required course substitution form can be obtained from the Registrar. The student submits the completed form to the professor teaching the required course. The professor then recommends approval or denial of the request to the VPAA.

Biblical Language Requirement, M.Div. Program

Students who have completed two semesters of a biblical language in their undergraduate coursework and received a "B-" or higher grade may petition the academic office to have the biblical language requirement waived.

Students who live with a medically diagnosed learning disability may petition the academic office for a language waiver. In addition to the written petition, the student is required to provide documentation of the medically diagnosed disability. The student is responsible for any financial expense attached to procuring appropriate documentation. Upon receiving the request, the academic office will consider the petition.

Students who are granted a biblical language requirement waiver will be required to substitute two upper-level biblical electives for biblical language credits.

Directed Study

Students may take up to six (6) credit hours as directed study courses. A proposal form for a directed study may be obtained from the Registrar. The student is to complete and sign the form and secure the signature of the professor who will direct the study. A completed directed study form must include a proposed plan of study, including readings, assignments, research and any other project deemed necessary for the integrity of the course. The completed form is returned to the Registrar for final approval by the VPAA. Approval is contingent upon such factors as faculty availability, the student's academic record, and the appropriateness of the study focus to the student's program. Proposals for directed study must be approved prior to the beginning of the academic term in which the directed study is to be done. The proposal must be completed and submitted for approval two weeks before the first day the term begins.

Standards for Student Workload

Each credit hour stands for 42 hours of work for an average seminary student. This work need not be evenly allocated throughout the entire semester, but should not be too intensely concentrated, either. The work for a course should be calculated by the following standard.

IR CLASS TIME	12 Hours per credit
DL INTENSIVE CLASS TIME	3.0 credit course = 13.5 hours
ASSIGNED READING	25 pgs. = 1 hour
RESEARCH PAPERS	1 page (400-500 words) = 2 hours
NON-RESEARCH WRITING (I.E. JOURNALS,	1 page = 1 hour
REFELCTION, PAPERS, ETC.)
EACH HOUR OF IN-CLASS EXAM TIME REQUIRES	3 hours prep time
LISTENING/VIEWING MULTIMEDIA	1 min. listening = 1.5 min. processing
PREPARING ORIGINAL DISCUSSION POST AND	250 words written = 1 hour
REPLIES
OTHER ASSIGNMENTS	Based on reasonable expectations of an average seminary student

Using the calculator above, workload expectations for all courses are to be clearly identified in the course syllabus.

Other kinds of work not listed in these calculators, (particularly in the biblical languages) are more difficult to quantify. In addition, the amount of time required by different students may vary substantially. However, professors are expected to make a good faith effort to estimate the time commitment for these assignments for the average seminary student.

The margin of variance allowed for any course should be 10% higher or lower than the estimate given. In other words, if a task is estimated to take 120 minutes that should be within the range of 108 to132 minutes. These standards are intended to govern the design of courses.

The seminary understands and expects that some students will need to spend more time than this to achieve acceptable academic performance. These standards are in no way to be used to define the maximum amount of time that any individual student needs to work, in order to complete a course's requirements at an acceptable level of academic performance. It is a tool to help students plan their academic, professional and personal time accordingly.

Grading

- A Excellence in comprehension of work submitted
 Outstanding evidence of ability to synthesize and utilize course knowledge
 Initiative expressed in personal goal setting/preparing & completing assignments
 Creativity and originality manifested in assignments
 Positive verbal contributions in class
 Consistency and thoroughness of work submitted
 Responsibility in meeting deadlines
 Cooperation with professor and others
 Excellence of written English
- B Good performance in comprehension of work submitted
 Substantial evidence of ability to analyze and utilize course knowledge
 Positive verbal contributions in class
 Consistency and thoroughness of work submitted
 Responsibility in meeting deadlines
 Cooperation with professor and others
 Adequacy and accuracy of written English
- C Fair performance in comprehension and thoroughness of work submitted Moderate evidence of ability to utilize course knowledge Adequate verbal contributions in class Responsibility in meeting deadlines Cooperation with professor and others Lack of adequacy and accuracy of written English
- D Poor performance in comprehension of work submitted Meets minimal credit standards of the professor Inadequate verbal contributions in class
- F Inadequacy of work submitted, attitude, or performance and attendance at classes
 Performance was a hindrance or damaging to overall preparation for graduation
 Withdrawal from a course after the last day to withdraw as listed on the academic calendar
- W Withdrawal from course prior to the last day to withdraw from a course (not calculated in GPA)
- P In courses without grade points, this grade indicates C work or above

Western Theological Seminary Grading Scale

100-94= A	<84-80= B-	<70-67= D+
<94-90= A-	<80-77= C+	<67-64= D
<90-87= B+	<77-74= C	<64-60= D-
<87-84= B	<74-70= C-	<60 = F

Course Repetition

Students who withdraw from or fail a required course must re-take the course. Non-completed elective courses do not need to be retaken. The student's transcript will indicate both the initial failing grade and a subsequent passing grade for the course. Both courses will be included in attempted credits, but only the repeated course will be included in earned courses and in GPA calculations. After the failed course has been passed, the failed course will be marked as F (r) on the student transcript. The student will pay tuition each time the course is taken until it has been successfully passed. Students who fail a required course and do not desire to retake the course may appeal to the VPAA in writing for a waiver of the requirement. However, the student must earn the appropriate credit hours toward the degree. The decision of the VPAA is final.

Incompletes

Under certain conditions, such as a lengthy absence due to illness or injury, hospitalization, or other unavoidable circumstances, a student may be unable to finish course assignments by the end of the academic term.

Students unable to complete all the requirements of a course may submit an email request for an incomplete prior to the end of the term. The reason(s) for the request must be clearly stated. The professor teaching the course determines if the request is approved. A copy of the request, with the professor's approval, is then emailed to the Registrar.

If the request is approved, the remaining work is to be completed within thirty days of the end of the term, or the incomplete shall become an F or the grade determined by the professor based on the work already completed. A grade will be requested by the registrar 30 days after the term has been completed. If an extension is needed, the professor teaching the course, in consultation with the VPAA, determines if an extension is approved. A copy of the request, with the professor's approval, is then emailed to the Registrar.

Pass/No Credit

Degree seeking students may elect to take elective courses on a pass/no credit basis with the consent of the professor teaching the elective course. The decision must be made within the first week of the course and is irrevocable. In evaluating academic performance for pass/no credit courses, C work or above is pass and D work or lower receives no credit.

Grade Reports

The Registrar provides each professor with information on entering grades via the faculty portal at the end of an academic term. Faculty is expected to enter grades via the portal. Adjunct faculty will return grades to the Registrar for recording. Once the grades have been entered, the Registrar sends a grade report to each student via the student portal.

Transcripts

Student academic records are confidential and may not be released by the Registrar without the written consent of the student. The copy of an academic record released directly to a student is not considered an official transcript, and may be downloaded from the student portal.

Accessibility Policies

WTS is committed to creating an inclusive learning environment and views disability as an aspect of human diversity. We continue to consult with students, faculty, and staff to identify environmental and attitudinal barriers, to improve accessibility on campus, and to improve the accessibility of our online platforms with the goal of ensuring that all students can participate fully in the seminary experience.

Accessibility

Carlos Thompson Student Accessibility Coordinator Therefore, if students have a physical, sensory, psychological, or learning disability, we would like to support students' access to course materials through reasonable accommodations. Students are certainly welcome, though not required, to disclose a diagnosis, diagnoses, or include medical documentation as they seek accommodations and learning support while attending WTS.

All requests for reasonable accommodations should be made to the Student Accessibility Coordinator, Carlos Thompson, at carlos.thompson@westernsem.edu. Upon receiving students' request for accommodations, Prof. Thompson will work with students, the Accessibility Team, the Academic Office, and professors to ensure that students receive reasonable course accommodations and support each semester.

Academic Probation

Admission on Academic Probation

Students admitted to Western Theological Seminary with a G.P.A. of less than 2.50 are admitted on academic probation. If the student earns a 2.50 or better in the first semester, the student will be taken off academic probation. Students who earn below a 2.50 GPA in the first semester will remain on academic probation and will not be eligible for financial aid until they come off academic probation.

Completed Credits	Semester GPA	Cumulative GPA	Incomplete Credits
0-6	1.00	1.00	50%
7-12	1.50	2.00	50%
13 or more	2.00	2.50	50%

Indicators of Marginal Performance Leading to Academic Probation

Students whose semester or cumulative GPA falls below the thresholds stated above will be placed on academic probation for the next semester. Students who have 50% or more outstanding incomplete credits for the term after the usual thirty-day period shall be considered to be performing at a marginal level and placed on academic probation.

While on academic probation, students are eligible to receive financial aid for one semester. Students on academic probation for more than one semester are ineligible for financial aid until such time as they are removed from academic probation.

Review of Probationary Status

The VPAA and the Associate Dean, with the Registrar, shall review the academic progress of all students on academic probation at the close of each academic semester.

Responding to Academic Probation for Matriculated Students

Students on academic probation are expected to devote their full attention to studying. When a student is placed on academic probation, the student must submit to the Associate Dean a written plan whereby sufficient attention will be given to study.

Appeal of Academic Probation

Students who are placed on academic probation may appeal this action within 30 days of receiving notice of academic probation to the VPAA. Students making such an appeal must provide proof of extenuating circumstances beyond their control that led to their poor academic performance (e.g. medical reasons, family crisis, or other unavoidable circumstances). The VPAA will review the case along with any additional information supplied by the student and respond as findings of the review indicate. The decision of the VPAA is final.

Regaining Non-Probationary Status

A student who is on academic probation will be taken off academic probation if that student's academic performance is above the indicators of marginal performance or if that student's academic performance for the semester is 3.3 or better even if their cumulative GPA remains below the indicators of marginal performance. In such circumstances, the student is making satisfactory academic progress towards the completion of a degree.

Financial Aid and VA Benefits on Probation

In compliance with the U.S. Code, any student receiving Federal Student Aid or Veteran's Administration benefits will not be certified to the Department of Education or to the VA as eligible for financial aid if the student remains on academic probation beyond two academic semesters or beyond one academic semester if they have been admitted on academic probation. If students eligible for Federal or VA aid retain non-probationary status, in the semester following their probationary status, recertification is possible.

Academic Probation Dismissal

Students who have already been placed on academic probation for more than two semesters may be asked to terminate their studies at Western Theological Seminary. Non-degree seeking students whose GPA is less than 2.50 for any two semesters will lose their student status and will not be permitted to register for further coursework.

Course and Material Access at Conclusion of the Semester

Students in programs other than the Doctor of Ministry Program will have access to their current semester courses in the Canvas learning management system for 30 days after the end of the semester. After this date, the course will no longer appear in the student's course list and students will not have access to the course. In order to honor the incomplete and copyright policies, past courses will conclude 30 days after the end of the semester.

Ways to Conclude Studies

Students may conclude their study at Western Theological Seminary by graduation, transfer, leave of absence, withdrawal, death, and dismissal.

Graduation

Students who have completed the requirements for graduation under the provisions of one of the degree programs receive their diploma upon completion of their final coursework. Participation in the commencement ceremony is governed by the following process:

• In the fall semester, students who intend to graduate must notify the Registrar of their intention using a form distributed by the Registrar.

• One month prior to the winter meeting of the trustees, the Registrar prepares a list of all students who intend to graduate, and who have registered for sufficient coursework to complete all graduation requirements by the end of the second semester.

• Students who intend to graduate but who did not notify the Registrar by the given deadline shall have the right to appeal to the VPAA to be placed on the list of graduating students, whose decision is final.

• The list of graduating students is reviewed by the faculty and recommended to the trustees for approval at their winter meeting.

• One month before graduation, the Registrar reviews the graduation list approved by the trustees, and removes the names of any persons who, because of course withdrawals or other reasons, will clearly be unable to complete all graduation requirements by the end of the semester. Such students shall be notified, and the Registrar's decision may be appealed to the VPAA, whose decision is final. This revised list is printed in the commencement program.

• Students who have incompletes remaining at the time of commencement or who are registered for courses that end no later than August 31 of that year but are not yet complete at the time of commencement, may still participate in the commencement ceremony, but will receive their diplomas only upon completion of all requirements; students who have failed courses required for graduation or who have failed to fulfill any other graduation requirements may not participate in the commencement ceremony.

The M.Div. program has a requirement of 87 semester credit hours for graduation which are normally completed in seven years or less.

The M.A. program has a requirement of 42 semester credit hours for graduation which are normally completed in 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ years or less.

The D.Min. program has a requirement of 36 credit hours, which are normally completed in at least three years but not more than five years and includes the project. Under extenuating circumstances, the candidate may petition the D.Min. Committee for a one-year extension to the five-year limit.

The Th.M. program has a requirement of 25 semester credit hours which are normally completed in one year.

The Graduate Certificates have requirements of 21-24 semester credit hours for graduation.

All accounts must be cleared in order for a student to receive a diploma from the seminary.

Leave of Absence (LOA)

Students who do not wish to take courses during a given academic semester must submit their intention in writing to the Registrar. Those approved will be considered on leave of absence for up to one year, after which time the student must either resume taking courses or be classified as withdrawn from studies. If the student is a Title IV loan recipient and does not return from the LOA, the withdrawal date will be the date the LOA began. This may affect loan repayment terms, including expiration of the student's grace period.

Withdraw

Students who voluntarily withdraw from their studies must submit their intention to withdraw in writing to the Registrar.

Students who, for whatever reason, do not register for courses for two terms, and have not communicated their intentions in writing to the Registrar, are considered to have withdrawn.

Death

In the case of the death of a student, all tuition charges for classes in progress are waived. All other debts owed to the seminary remain payable from the estate of the deceased student.

Misconduct Dismissal

In addition to academic probation dismissal, students may face dismissal for these reasons:

- Plagiarism. See policy on page 30.
- Harassment or discrimination. See page 14.

• Criminal Infractions. If a student is indicted and convicted for criminal infractions, that student will be dismissed from the seminary. Opportunity for re-admission is possible if the legal penalty to which the student was sentenced has been fulfilled and the student is able to express self awareness in remorse and full readiness for seminary studies. Formal notice of the dismissal shall be given in writing by the VPAA and will be a part of the student's official record.

• Conduct. If a student exhibits repeated and persistent actions or words that give evidence of a serious lack of Christian conduct, virtues, or fitness for ministry, the VPAA, in consultation with the Associate Dean and the Director of Student Life, may dismiss the student from the seminary. The student under such consideration will have the right to give evidence of improvement in conduct, virtues, and fitness for ministry, and will have the right to appeal, in writing, a decision for dismissal. The student's appeal will be presented to a Review Panel formed by the VPAA, the Associate Dean or the Director of Student Life, and another member of the faculty or staff to ensure a non-biased review. The Review Panel will seek counsel as is appropriate and will seek to issue a written decision within 14 days of the student's appeal. The Review Panel's decision is final; there is no further right of appeal.

Exit Interviews for Master's Degree Programs

Graduating M.A., M.Div., and Th.M. students are invited to exit interviews with the dean and VPAA in the spring of the year in which they expect to graduate. Information gathered in the interview process is then summarized for faculty and trustees.

Readmission

Students who are asked to terminate their studies for academic or other reasons may apply for readmission. There is a waiting period of one year from the date of dismissal before a student may apply for readmission. Application for readmission must be accompanied by evidence of change in the conditions or circumstances that led to the dismissal. Applications for readmission will be presented to the appropriate degree committee. Students who have voluntarily withdrawn must submit a written request for readmission to the appropriate degree committee for consideration.

Class Attendance and Participation

Participation in a learning community lies at the heart of theological education. Learning is a communal venture; therefore, class participation is required. A residential student should not miss more than a tenth of the class sessions for any one course. If more than a tenth of the class sessions are missed, professors may assign an appropriate academic penalty for the final grade of the course. Students who know in advance that they will miss more than one tenth of a class's sessions should not register for the course without permission from the instructor. Distance learning students must fully participate in all the on-line and intensive components of the course. When absence becomes necessary, it is common courtesy to inform the professor. When a professor is unable to meet a scheduled class, students are to be notified.

Teaching Assistants

If enrollment in a course reaches 25, the course will automatically qualify for a teaching assistant. Ordinarily the teaching assistant shall be an upper level student. The role of the teaching assistant should be stated in the course syllabus or on the learning management system so that students are informed. Teaching assistants may assist in a variety of class management tasks and may also assist in grading student work of an objective nature. Research papers or longer essays are to be evaluated and graded by the professor, but the teaching assistant may give an initial evaluation for grammatical and structural issues and make suggestions based on clear rubrics provided by the professor. Teaching assistants are not to read or evaluate student journals.

Writing Guidelines

The seminary expects all written submissions to correspond to accepted standards for academic writing at the graduate level. In addition to matters of organization, expression and grammar, proper methods of citation and documentation are required. The following are expected of students:

- Accurate and precise uses of quotations and other summary representations of published material.
- Use of quotation marks for shorter quotes and indented block paragraphing for longer ones (of four or more lines in length).

• Accurate and complete bibliographic information for all sources, both in notes and in a concluding Bibliography or References Cited page.

• Correct and consistent use of one or the other of the two basic documentation systems, as defined by The Chicago Manual of Style. (Instructors may stipulate which system must be used for a particular course or assignment, in which case this will be clearly indicated in the course syllabus.)

Inclusive Language Policy

Western Theological Seminary is committed to being a community that uses inclusive language with reference to human beings and exhibits in our references to God the full range of biblical language and imagery. Inclusive language with reference to human beings intentionally seeks to extend hospitality to all people. Using the full range of biblical language with reference to God intentionally seeks faithfulness to Scripture within respect for the practices of various Christian traditions both historic and contemporary.

With these commitments in mind, the seminary's inclusive language policy is as follows: Persons in the community are expected to use inclusive language with reference to human beings in the conduct of courses, fulfillment of course assignments, and patterns of communication in all facets of the work of the seminary. This means avoiding "generic" uses of masculine terms or pronouns.

A few examples are:

- Use "humanity", "persons", or "people" instead of "man" or "mankind."
- Use "brothers and sisters" instead of "brothers" when both are intended.
- Use "she or he" instead of "he" when men and women are intended.

• Use "fathers and mothers of the church" instead of "fathers of the church", unless only males are envisioned.

No complete list is possible or necessary in the seminary's inclusive language policy. Care and attentiveness to this matter of community graciousness will soon become a familiar instinct. Persons in the community are expected to use language with reference to God that is faithful to the richness of the Bible and respectful of diverse theological traditions. This means that prayers, liturgies, and sermons should exhibit a range and variety of imagery for God consistent with that of the Scriptures.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism occurs when a writer uses another source's words or ideas or any other materials (original or generated) without citation. Thus, it is the misrepresentation of those words, ideas, and/or materials as the writer's own. Plagiarism is a serious breach of ethics in an academic setting and it is explicitly forbidden at the seminary. When a faculty member finds evidence of plagiarism in a student's work, the faculty member will submit a report to the VPAA and notify the student.

If plagiarism is determined to have occurred, the faculty member, in consultation with the VPAA, will decide which of these three pathways will be followed: a) the student will receive a lower grade for the assignment and be required to resubmit the assignment using prober citation or sources, b) the student will receive a failing grade for the assignment, or c) the student will receive a failing grade for the course. The report of plagiarism will be placed in the student's file. In addition, the student is required to meet with the Director of the Writing Studio to learn ways to cite sources properly and avoid plagiarism.

A second offense of plagiarism may result in dismissal from the seminary.

In-Residence Master of Divinity

Western Theological Seminary's M.Div. degree cultivates an educational community of women and men, forming them for faithful, lifelong participation in the Triune God's ongoing redemptive work in the world as ministers in the local church and through other forms of leadership and service.

The In-Residence Master of Divinity is available on-campus in Holland, Michigan.

Requirements for the Degree

The Master of Divinity (M.Div.) degree requires 87 credit hours, usually completed in three years of fulltime study. All M.Div. candidates are required to take introductory courses in the Biblical, Theological, and Christian Ministry Fields, as well as Practice of Ministry courses. Students choose elective courses in areas of their own interest.

In mid-August, new students participate in an online orientation and learn how to use the learning management system (Canvas). New students also attend an in-person orientation held each year for all incoming in-residence M.Div. candidates during the week prior to the beginning of the first semester. During this orientation, new students are introduced to the Western community and receive information crucial to seminary life.

The Abbey

The Abbey invites students into intentional relationships with faculty and fellow students to explore spiritual disciplines, engage in vocational discernment, and integrate their classroom learning with their life of faith. Students will register for the Abbey for three years (six consecutive semesters). As a part of the Abbey, students will meet weekly in Abbey groups made up of five-six students and facilitated by a faculty member. The Abbey includes on-site retreats once per semester with distance learning students. As part of the Practice of Ministry Internship courses, students will also engage in the practice of preaching outside of the classroom and be invited to reflect upon their experience of and sense of call to preaching.

Practice of Ministry Internships

Master of Divinity students take part in supervised internships in ministry settings. This internship component of the curriculum provides a place to practice ministry and a space to reflect on it.

Three elements usually guide the internship experience:

1. A mentor at the church or organization regularly meets with the student to reflect theologically and personally on the student's ongoing formation for ministry.

In-Residence Master of Divinity

Dr. Kristen Deede Johnson Dean and Vice President of Academic Affairs, G.W. and Edna Haworth Professor of Educational Ministries and Leadership

Dr. John Brogan Associate Academic Dean and Director of the Master of Divinity Program

Student Life

Dr. Tim Basselin Director of Field Education and Student Life

> Kate Bareman Associate Director of Student Life

- 2. Students write learning covenants to help focus their internship experience.
- 3. Coursework accompanies the internship to provide space for learning, reflection, and integration.

M.Div. students are required to complete four semesters/units of supervised internships. These can be done over two academic years or one academic year and one summer.

Intercultural Immersion Experience

In groups of 10-15 students with at least one professor as a guide, Western's M.Div. students travel to encourage their global awareness and cultural engagement and to help them respect, engage, and learn from people and perspectives other than their own. Students also explore key social issues and contextual challenges of the particular place and culture in which the class is immersed. The trips are taken in May.

Our students have been immersed in cultures such as:

India	Borderlands	Brazil
Oman	(US/Mexico)	Cambodia
Chiapas, Mexico	Israel/Palestine	Kenya

Distance Learning Master of Divinity

Western Theological Seminary's M.Div. degree cultivates an educational community of women and men, forming them for faithful, lifelong participation in the Triune God's ongoing redemptive work in the world as ministers in the local church and through other forms of leadership and service.

Western Theological Seminary offers its Master of Divinity degree in a 5-year blended distance education format. Each year

Distance Learning Master of Divinity

Dr. Kristen Deede Johnson Dean and Vice President of Academic Affairs, G.W. and Edna Haworth Professor of Educational Ministries and Leadership

contains two 14-week semesters, with a 5-day on-campus intensive that is required for the first three years of study (four years if a student is taking both Hebrew and Greek). Students who follow our recommended sequencing of courses will need to plan on taking three summer term courses as well.

Blended distance learning offers students a community-rich environment with the opportunity to complete an M.Div. without moving to campus. The distance learning student receives the benefit of belonging to a community of learners while remaining in his or her ministry context.

The distance learning M.Div. program has fully met students' expectations for a high quality graduate theological program. The program strengths most identified are: the close community developed among students, the ability for second career/non-traditional students to answer their call to ministry, and the spiritual and pastoral formation character of the program.

The 87-credit hour program involves Western's entire faculty and offers a similar yet specifically designed curriculum as the in-residence Master of Divinity program. The program incorporates small groups facilitated by faculty, supervised internships in ministry settings, and rich community experiences through worship, community fellowship, and shared meals.

Students admitted into the distance M.Div. program are expected to maintain regular and consistent participation in order to complete the degree in five years. The on-campus intensives in October and February are required to receive academic credit for each course with a required intensive taken during those semesters. The 7-week summer term is fully online.

Semester Schedule

- Orientation: In mid-August, new students participate in online orientation and learn how to use the learning management system (Canvas). As students work within Canvas, gaining experience with the tools used in courses, they begin to develop an online community within the new student cohort.
- Fall Semester: 14 weeks, late August-December, with a 5-day on-campus intensive in October that is required for the first three years of study (four years if a student is taking both Hebrew and Greek).

- Spring Semester: 14 weeks, January-April, with a 5-day on-campus intensive in February that is required for the first three years of study (four years if a student is taking both Hebrew and Greek).
- Summer Term: 7 weeks, early May-late June, fully online courses.

Technology Requirements

Each student is required to provide his or her own computer according to the standards on www.westernsem.edu. Wireless connection is available in the library, classrooms, and most of the seminary campus.

The Abbey

The Abbey invites students into intentional relationships with faculty and fellow students to explore spiritual disciplines, engage in vocational discernment, and integrate their classroom learning with their life of faith. Students will register for the Abbey for their first three years (six consecutive semesters). As a part of the Abbey, students will meet in Abbey groups made up of five-six students and facilitated by a faculty member. These groups will meet approximately once a month by Zoom. The Abbey includes on-site retreats once per semester with distance learning students. As part of the Abbey, students will also engage in the practice of preaching outside of the classroom and be invited to reflect upon their experience of and sense of call to preaching.

Practice of Ministry Internship

Master of Divinity students take part in supervised internships in ministry settings. This internship component of the curriculum provides a place to practice ministry and a space to reflect on it.

Three elements usually guide the internship experience:

- 1. A mentor at the church or organization regularly meets with the student to reflect theologically and personally on the student's ongoing formation for ministry.
- 2. Students write learning covenants to help focus their internship experience.
- 3. Coursework accompanies the internship to provide space for learning, reflection, and integration.

M.Div. students are required to complete four semesters/units of supervised internships. These can be done over two academic years or one academic year and one summer.

If a student is already working in ministry, it often makes sense for that site to become his or her internship site. However, students are encouraged to gain a broad range of experiences to best prepare for their future ministries.

Intercultural Immersion Experience

In groups of 10-15 students with at least one professor as a guide, Western's M.Div. students travel to encourage their global awareness and cultural engagement and to help them respect, engage, and learn from people and perspectives other than their own. Students also explore key social issues and contextual challenges of the particular place and culture in which the class is immersed. The trips are taken in May.

Our students have been immersed in cultures such as:

India	Borderlands	Brazil
Oman	(US/Mexico)	Cambodia
Chiapas, Mexico	Israel/Palestine	Kenya

Dual Track Master of Divinity-Master of Social Work

The Dual Track Master of Divinity-Master of Social Work program helps students prepare for professional ministry where the depth and breadth of Christian theology and faith meet the pain and struggle of human life.

Students learn to integrate the theory, knowledge and skills required of pastors and social workers as they seek to be instruments of grace and peace. In turn, they are equipped to help the Church more faithfully follow the compassionate Christ into the world.

After four years of intense study accompanied by challenging internships, students are ready to serve in contexts ranging from marriage counseling in a congregation to coordinating programs at a ministry with homeless people.

Dual Track M.Div.-M.S.W.

Dr. John Brogan Associate Academic Dean and Director of the Dual Track M.Div.-M.S.W. Program

Typically 63 out of the 87 hours required for an M.Div. are completed through WTS. The remaining 24 hours are transferred from the M.S.W program back to the seminary as electives. This allows the student to complete both masters degrees in four years instead of five if they choose.

For students with a BSW degree, the M.S.W. portion of the dual track program is typically shortened due to receiving advanced standing. These students can earn both masters degrees in three years.

Students who decide not to pursue an M.S.W. degree after the first two years of M.Div. coursework can receive an M.Div. degree only after completing all of its degree requirements.

Program Design

The program is flexible enough to complete in one of four ways.

- Students can spend the first two years of the 4-year dual track program inresidence at Western Theological Seminary taking Master of Divinity coursework. Years 3-4 are then spent in a Master of Social Work program at another accredited institution of the student's preference.
- Students can also choose our 5-year part-time Distance Learning option to complete their M.Div. coursework through WTS. When finished, they can pursue a Master of Social Work program at another accredited institution of the student's preference.
- Another option is to start with the M.S.W. degree elsewhere followed by the M.Div. at WTS. This path is convenient for undergrad students who have the option of earning the M.S.W. at the same institution. They can stay in a familiar context in the transition into graduate school. After completing the M.S.W. degree, the student moves to WTS for two years of M.Div. coursework.

A last option applies to those who have already earned the M.S.W. degree. If it was earned seven years prior to M.Div. matriculation, WTS will accept 24 transfer credits. The balance of 63 credit hours required for the M.Div. degree is earned at WTS in two years or more. We will consider applicants who have earned the M.S.W. up to 15 years prior if M.S.W. licensure has been maintained.

Cohort Learning Groups

Dual track students meet in small cohort groups over the duration of the program. These groups are facilitated by a ministry professional who supports students as they consider how the fields of ministry and social work might be integrated in their respective callings.

Unique Ministry

Unique ministry opportunities open for those pursuing Western's Dual Track degree. Examples include:

- Counseling
- Coordinating urban youth programs
- Chaplaincy in a treatment program
- Restorative justice in the criminal justice system
- Community development here or abroad
- Children and family support and education
- Outreach Pastor
- Social justice research and advocacy
- Starting a nonprofit ministry

Master of Arts in Christian Studies

Western Theological Seminary's most flexible degree program, the Master of Arts in Christian Studies, is designed as a general theological degree in biblical and theological studies. This degree will support men and women with resources for thoughtful and competent Christian leadership in a broad range of ministry settings.

Distinctives of the Program

• About half of the 42 credits needed to earn this degree are electives. This means you have flexibility to focus your learning in areas most meaningful to you.

Master of Arts in Christian Studies

Dr. John Brogan Associate Academic Dean and Director of the Master of Arts Program

- Students may select courses in a residential format, a purely online format, or a blended format with both online and face-to-face interaction.
- Theological and biblical course requirements will help you to understand and articulate Christian traditions and convictions.

Western Theological Seminary's highly effective and community-rich distance learning environment offers courses wherever you are. Some courses are delivered completely online while others use a hybrid design, blending online learning with face-to-face instruction on the WTS campus. For those who prefer to take most courses on campus, in-residence options are also available.

WTS welcomes transfer students and transferred coursework. Up to 27 credits of the coursework required to complete the M.A. may be transferred from another ATS accredited seminary for degree completion at Western Theological Seminary.

Students have the option of selecting an "Academic" track or a "Professional" track. By selecting the "Academic" track, students will take elective courses that lead to writing a thesis in the Master of Arts Capstone course. By selecting the "Professional" track, students will substitute two semesters of mentored practicum (1.5 credits each semester) for one 3-credit elective course. Students will then complete a ministry project in the Master of Arts Capstone course.

Semester Schedule

- Orientation: In mid-August, new students participate in online orientation and learn how to use the learning management system (Canvas). As students work within Canvas, gaining experience with the tools used in courses, they begin to develop an online community within the new student cohort.
- Fall Semester: 14 weeks, late August-December, If students select hybrid courses, they may need to be on campus for an intensive in October.

- Spring Semester: 14 weeks, January-April. If students select hybrid courses, they may need to be on campus for an intensive in February.
- Summer Term: 7 weeks, early May-late June, fully online courses.

Dr. John Brogan Associate Academic Dean and Director of the Master of Arts Program

• Ministry and biblical course requirements will help you to understand and articulate Christian Scripture, traditions, and practice.

Western Theological Seminary's highly effective and community-rich distance learning environment offers courses wherever you are. Some courses are delivered completely online while others use a hybrid design, blending online learning with face-to-face instruction on the WTS campus. For those who prefer to take most courses on campus, in-residence options are also available.

WTS welcomes transfer students and transferred coursework. Up to 27 credits of the coursework required to complete the M.A. may be transferred from another ATS accredited seminary for degree completion at Western Theological Seminary.

Students have the option of selecting an "Academic" track or a "Professional" track. By selecting the "Academic" track, students will take elective courses that lead to writing a thesis in the Master of Arts Capstone course. By selecting the "Professional" track, students will substitute two semesters of mentored practicum (1.5 credits each semester) for one 3-credit elective course. Students will then complete a ministry project in the Master of Arts Capstone course.

Semester Schedule

- Orientation: In mid-August, new students participate in online orientation and learn how to use the learning management system (Canvas). As students work within Canvas, gaining experience with the tools used in courses, they begin to develop an online community within the new student cohort.
- Fall Semester: 14 weeks, late August-December. If students select hybrid courses, they may need to be on campus for an intensive in October.
- Spring Semester: 14 weeks, January-April. If students select hybrid courses, they may need to be on campus for an intensive in February.

• Summer Term: 7 weeks, early May-late June, fully online courses.

Master of Theology

The Master of Theology (Th.M.) program is designed to enable gualified graduates of post-baccalaureate degree programs in theology (i.e., the M.Div. degree or its equivalent) to broaden and deepen their theological knowledge. Students will do this by participating in core seminars, taking electives, and pursuing research in a specialized area within the Biblical, Theological, or Christian Ministry fields.

Our program has two further distinctive characteristics:

1. The Th.M. program as a whole highlights the theological and cultural underpinnings of how Christian faith and practice are and might be embodied in various cultures and contexts. With this is mind, we aim

Master of Theology

> Gretchen Torres Master of Theology Administrative Assistant

- for a student body that is approximately 2/3 international students and 1/3 domestic students. The diverse cultural background of our students enriches the discussions both in our core Th.M. seminars and in the wide Western Theological Seminary community.
- 2. As with all our degree programs, our pursuit of knowledge is done in the spirit of "faith seeking understanding." We invite all students to participate fully in our lively, Reformed, evangelical, and ecumenically-open community of faith as they seek to deepen and sharpen their theological understanding.

The Th.M. degree is intended for students preparing for further Ph.D. studies, pastors who wish to deepen their education, and Christian leaders who will serve and teach in ecclesiastical and educational institutions. Applicants must have the ability to relate theological study to the social, cultural and historical contexts of their ministries.

International Students must submit a TOEFL score of at least:

• Paper based: 550, TWE 4	 Internet based: 80 	 IELTS: Overall 6.0

Doctor of Ministry

The Doctor of Ministry (D.Min.) degree program is offered to those who hold the Master of Divinity degree or its educational equivalent and who are currently engaged in leading the church and its ministries.

The D.Min. at Western Theological Seminary is unique—a formational process with an intellectual product. Three-year cohorts are designed around important themes such as pastoral care and counseling, disability and ministry, pastoral leadership, ministry concerns in particular cultures, etc. (see website for current cohort offerings at westernsem.edu/dmin)

Each participant researches a topic born out of passion and interest as well as his/her unique context or ecclesial concern. Students identify a barrier in their ministry and read broadly within the research area of their cohort theme. Along the way, the student is encouraged to grow on four levels:

Who you are as a person (emotional and psychological formation) Who you are as a child of God (spiritual formation) What you do (skills for ecclesial formation) What you know (intellectual formation)

Over the course of three years, participants gather with peers and faculty for cohort seminars (usually around 12 students per cohort). The gatherings are unique to each cohort theme and may be in Holland, MI or another location.

In between face-to-face cohort seminars, participants engage with each other virtually and maintain regular contact with the faculty mentor and with each other. Mutual encouragement and regular engagement is crucial for growth, motivation, and shared learning. As cohort members discuss the challenges and opportunities within their own ministries, they learn from each other and serve as "research assistants" when they discover helpful content for a fellow student. The model also works well cross-culturally where a strong group dynamic is valued.

The program concludes with successful completion of a thesis project, presented and defended before the faculty advisor as well as an internal and external reader. The project is shaped by the various components of the three-year program and should demonstrate competencies in theological reflection, church leadership, cultural discernment, and pastoral wisdom.

Expectations of Student Progress

Each cohort begins at a different time in the calendar year. Candidates are expected to complete six seminar courses. Each course includes a one-week seminar meeting face-to face either in Holland, MI or another location. Students are expected to complete the courses in three years along with their cohort.

Doctor of Ministry

Dr. Chuck DeGroat Professor of Pastoral Care and Christian Spirituality, Interim Director of D.Min. Program

> Kathy Ehmann D.Min. Program Administrator

One additional year is given for completion of their thesis project. The degree is granted when a student has successfully completed the core curriculum of 36 credits plus the thesis project.

DOCTOR OF MINISTRY CURRICULUM

PROGRAM TOTAL: 36 credit hours

All courses required to earn the D.Min. degree are available in an online format with a face-to-face seminar. Each year of the program includes two semesters. At the discretion of the professor, the seminar can be either two consecutive weeks or two one-week gatherings each year.

Graduate Certificate in Disability and Ministry

The Graduate Certificate in Disability and Ministry (GCDM) is tailored to help church leaders and lay leaders recognize, appreciate, and incorporate the gifts and perspectives of people with disabilities in a variety of ministry settings. Western Theological Seminary offers:

- Strength in the art and practice of ministering to and with those with disabilities
- Deeper biblical and theological knowledge
- Increased ability to share the gospel of Jesus Christ
- Insights for developing cultural competency
- Community of peers to challenge and support you
- Momentum toward a Master of Divinity or Master of Arts degree

Graduate Certificate students take three core curriculum courses and four elective courses, a total of 21 credit hours, in order to deepen their awareness of issues particular to disabilities and to increase their competency in ministering to and with the entire body of Christ. Students can take a core course and at least a 3-credit elective each semester, completing the program in two years if they wish. Not all courses are offered every year or in any two year period.

Our courses always include the voices of people with disabilities, and some of the professors who teach in the program also have disabilities.

Topics explored in disability courses:

- Conceptions, definitions, and expressions of disability
- The history of disability in the U.S.
- Innovative practitioners who paved the way in re-imagining disability
- Service systems and advocacy groups
- How Jesus redefined the margin and the center with a Kingdom perspective
- Theological understanding of disability
- Pastoral issues related to the experience of disability
- Biblical interpretation from disability perspectives
- Aging and dementia
- Worship
- Deaf theology and ministry
- Strategies for becoming an inclusive church

Existing M.Div. or M.A. students at WTS may apply for and earn the GCDM by completing MN116 Introduction to Disability and the Church and four (4) of the disability-related electives. The courses may be taken as electives while enrolled, in which case the GCDM will be presented to the student upon graduation. If the work for the GCDM is incomplete upon graduation, the necessary additional courses may be taken subsequent to graduation, and the GCDM will be conferred upon completion of requirements.

GCDM

Dr. Ben Conner Director of the Graduate Certificate in Disability and Ministry, Professor of Practical Theology Students with an earned M.A. or M.Div. from any ATS approved institution will be required to complete Introduction to Disability and the Church and four of the disability-related electives.

GRADUATE CERTIFICATE IN DISABILITY AND MINISTRY CURRICULUM

Graduate Certificate in Pastoral Ministry

The Graduate Certificate in Pastoral Ministry (GCPM) is offered to give church leaders and lay leaders practical training for their context. Student may select the GCPM or the GCPM in Soul Care. The certificate creates momentum toward an M.Div. or M.A. degree.

GCPM (offered in Spanish or English)

This certificate prepares pastors, elders, ministers, and church leaders for ministry today. It provides:

- Strengthened skills for pastoral ministry for the next generation
- Classes taught by both WTS faculty and bilingual (Spanish and English) professors from multicultural backgrounds
- Deeper biblical and theological knowledge
- Increased ability to share the gospel of Jesus Christ
- A community of peers to challenge and support you
- Insight into relating across cultures
- A pathway for RCA Commissioned Pastors to complete their required training criteria

GCPM

Dr. Alberto La Rosa Rojas Interim Director of Hispanic Ministry Program

Dr. Keith Starkenburg Interim Director of English GCPM Program

GCPM in Soul Care

This certificate is a unique collaboration between the seminary and The Soul Care Institute. This certificate prepares pastors, elders, ministers, and church leaders to gain tools in the art and practice of soul care and ministry. It provides:

- Strengthened skills for pastoral ministry with an emphasis on soul care
- Classes taught by both WTS faculty and Soul Care Institute professors
- Deeper biblical and theological knowledge
- Increased ability to share the gospel of Jesus Christ
- A community of peers to challenge and support you
- Insight into relating across cultures

Eight courses totaling 24 credit hours are required to complete the program, which can be completed in four semesters. The schedule for courses varies by geographic location around the country, some purely online and some a combination of online, online with an intensive, and classroom.

Upon successful completion of the Graduate Certificate, students can apply for entrance to Western Theological Seminary's Master of Divinity or Master of Arts program through a separate application process. All Graduate Certificate in Pastoral Ministry courses can be applied to Master of Divinity or Master of Arts programs at Western or at other ATS accredited seminaries.

not have a bachelor's degree or its equivalent or are admitted on academic probation.

Non-Degree-Seeking Students

Western Seminary allows those who wish to register for seminary courses without enrolling in one of our degree programs to apply for non-degree-seeking status. Those admitted as non-degree-seeking students may audit courses or take courses for credit. Those wanting academic credit for a course are subject to all regular academic requirements.

Non-degree-seeking students may not register for more than 15 semester credit hours without receiving permission from the academic dean. Internship courses and directed-study courses are not available to non-degree-seeking students.

Partnerships

The Hope-Western Prison Education Program (HWPEP)

The Hope-Western Prison Education Program provides a Christian liberal arts education to incarcerated men with long-term sentences at Muskegon Correctional Facility (MCF). Men at MCF can earn a Bachelor of Arts majoring in Faith, Leadership, and Service. Classes are taught by professors from Hope College and Western Theological Seminary, and Hope and Western students have the opportunity to be teaching assistants. As a covenant partnership between the college and seminary, the program strives to form thoughtful and wise citizens dedicated to improving their communities—whether inside or outside of prison.

Young Life (YL)

Young Life staff can turn their training into a seminary certificate or degree. Courses from Young Life Core Training can be transcripted into academic credits at WTS. Students who wish to complete a Master of Arts in Christian Studies transcript nine YL courses (27 credits). They then complete another five courses (15 credits) at WTS, all of which can be done in the distance-learning format, to reach the 42 credits required for the degree. Students wishing to earn the Graduate Certificate in Disability and Ministry can transcript two YL courses (6 credits) and then take five courses (15 credits) at WTS for a total of 21 credits.

Church Leadership Center (CLC)

Those who have completed training with the Church Leadership Center yet still want to grow in biblical and theological depth can turn their CLC learning into seminary program credits. CLC courses can be transcripted into seminary credit hours toward these programs at WTS:

- Graduate Certificate in Pastoral Ministry (9 credits) 5 additional WTS classes (15 cr) needed for certificate
- Master of Arts in Christian Studies (15 credits) –9 additional WTS classes (27 cr) needed for degree
- Master of Divinity (15 credits) 24 additional WTS classes (72 cr) needed for degree

Soul Care Institute (SCI)

WTS students have the opportunity to engage in true retreat designed to re-fill their souls. Through our partnership with Soul Care Institute, students embark on a journey with a group of peers meeting six times over two years. Each retreat is filled with wisdom from experienced teachers, time to recover stillness, and encouragement from spiritual directors and peers. After completing the full program, WTS students can receive 9 credit hours for their work at SCI to apply toward the 24 credits needed for a Graduate Certificate in Pastoral Ministry (GCPM) with a concentration in Soul Care. By the same token, Soul Care graduates can apply to the seminary and transcript 9 credits toward a GCPM at WTS.

Vita Scholars

Vita Scholars is joint initiative of Western Theological Seminary and Hope College in which students can earn both a B.A. and an M.Div. in 5 years. Vita Scholars is also a supportive community of students who are learning ministry skills, developing in their character and Christian commitment, and imagining how Christian ministries can be empowered to receive and leverage the gifts of any place that they are found.

Resources

Academic Office

The Academic Office provides:

- degree program administration
- academic calendar
- advisor assignments
- class and exam schedules
- grades, transcripts
- class enrollment
- drop/add and withdrawal
- financial aid applications
- current enrollment data

Writing Studio

The Writing Studio is a free service for enrolled students. Students who would like to improve their writing skills, and learn how to conceive, develop, organize and clarify their writing efforts can set up an appointment with the Writing Studio's Writing Specialist in person or virtually.

Student Council

Student Council advocates for student concerns and provides programming that engages the entire student body. Each class has representation along with elected leaders, both for in-residence and distance learning students.

Placement Services

While the seminary does not "place" its graduates, we offer support in the placement process. WTS hosts churches and other ministries that wish to make our graduates aware of openings. Many open ministry positions are listed on Western's website at westernsem.edu/about/jobs/.

Cook Library

The Cook Library, housed in the DeWitt Learning Center, is the seminary's center for access to information resources, supporting student studies, faculty research, and area ministries. Cook Library is a member of the American Theological Library Association, the Chicago Area Theological Library Association, and the Michigan Library Consortium.

Cook Library's resources include a combination of over 500,000 print and e-books with particular strengths in the Reformed tradition. Premium electronic resources for theological study, including databases and scholarly e-journals, are available to our patrons worldwide 24/7. Cook Library

Reference services are available in person and online via chat. Alumni of Western Theological Seminary may also enjoy access to ministry research resources via ATLAS for Alum.

Library users find information on the collection through the Western Theological Seminary Catalog. Cook Library and Hope College libraries maintain reciprocal borrowing privileges and work cooperatively to develop strong collections for each institution. Seminary students and faculty may request materials from other libraries through interlibrary loan.

Special Collections

Several special collections complement Cook Library's core collection. A Japanese collection includes Japanese translations of significant theological works. The library also houses religious education curricula from a wide range of publishers. Historical denominational materials and faculty publications are also available. The Hope College Archive and Special Collections, housed in Hope College's Van Wylen Library, contains papers documenting the history of Western Theological Seminary and the Reformed Church in West Michigan.

Study Environment

The DeWitt Learning Center provides an environment conducive for study, offering study carrels, lounge chairs, collaborative workspaces, group workrooms, catalog access on each floor, copying, printing and scanning services, and wireless internet access throughout the building. A sight reader is available for the visually impaired.

The Bridge

A few short blocks from campus, Holland's downtown thrives with specialty shops and galleries. One of the shops, The Bridge, is an unusual type of "specialty" store—a developing-world store staffed entirely by volunteers. The merchandise is purchased from cooperatives of artisans around the world who depend upon their work for economic survival.

Because The Bridge bypasses expensive importers and operates with minimal overhead, it can offer reasonably priced handmade goods to shoppers and insure a fair return to the artisans who produce them.

The Bridge is owned and operated by Western Theological Seminary. Profits from The Bridge help to bring scholars from around the world to our Master of Theology program.

The Community Kitchen

The Community Kitchen is delivered through a partnership with the Community Action House and Western Theological Seminary and operates out of the seminary Commons. The Community Kitchen is our doorway to those struggling with poverty, providing a place to identify the needs and struggles of our most vulnerable neighbors while providing them with a free meal.

Volunteers from local churches help to staff the kitchen and feed hundreds of people each week year round. Lunchtime in the Commons is a time and place where people of all backgrounds, incomes, faiths, and social positions are welcome to nourish their bodies with food and their spirits with the companionship of others.

Students, staff, and faculty are invited to volunteer their time in this ministry that links Western to the community in which we reside. Some pray with people in a private prayer room; others simply join the community in a meal. Others, such as Friend residents from The Friendship House, help with custodial tasks.

Courses

BL300 Old Testament Foundations

An introduction to the content, history, and theological dynamism of the writings of the Old Testament, with a view to appropriating the message of the Old Testament for today.

BL301 New Testament Foundations

An introduction to the content, history, and theological dynamism of the writings of the New Testament, with a view to appropriating the message of the New Testament for today.

BL310 Biblical Hebrew I

An introduction to biblical Hebrew in its cultural context for those who seek to interpret the Bible faithfully and fully. Using multi-sensory and interactive approaches, students will learn the basic vocabulary, grammar, syntax and world view of the Old Testament.

BL311 Hebrew Translation and Interpretation

A continuation of BL310 which more fully engages interpretive and devotional approaches to Old Testament texts. Using multi-sensory and interactive approaches, students will learn the basic vocabulary, grammar, syntax and world view of the Old Testament. Prerequisite: BL310

BL320 New Testament Greek I

An introduction to New Testament Greek vocabulary, grammatical forms, and sentence structure with a view to New Testament Greek as a resource for ministry.

BL321 New Testament Greek II & Interpretation

Continues BL320, with special emphasis upon syntax and translation. Greek Interpretation introduces the tools and principles required for the exegesis of the New Testament in its own linguistic, historical, and canonical context, as a foundation for interpreting the New Testament in a contemporary context. Prerequisite: BL320

BL120 Biblical Interpretation for Ministry

This course explores biblical interpretive methods and online study tools and their application towards ministry settings. No language prerequisite.

BL490 Biblical Capstone

This capstone course explores how our biblical hermeneutic, i.e. the approaches we bring to interpreting scripture, affects the way we engage our Christian life and ministry.

BL501 Exodus: Explorations in Liberation

The Book of Exodus includes some of the most iconic and theologically significant moments in the life of the people of Israel, from the Burning Bush to the exodus, from the Ten Commandments at Mt. Sinai to the construction of the Tabernacle—stories and themes that reverberate throughout the entire Bible. It includes narrative and law codes, poetry and history. This exegetical course will explore these moments and themes from multiple perspectives, with particular emphasis given to the theme of liberation—both as the book's essential content and as an interpretive lens.

BL505 Ecological Hermeneutics & Ministry

This course explores the field of ecological hermeneutics and the application of ecological interpretive approaches in ministry settings. Biblical scholars interpret the Bible's teachings concerning the relationship between humans and creation in a variety of ways. Different interpretive approaches result in different applications. Students will be challenged to develop their own ecological hermeneutical approach to Scripture and to seek ways to apply their interpretations in their own ministry and life settings.

BL506 Prophetic Narratives

This course will explore the artistry, drama, and theology of Israelite storytelling within the prophetic tradition, with particular emphasis on the ministries of Samuel, Elijah and Elisha in the books of Samuel and Kings. We will consider the cultural, historical, and theological context out of which these dramatic stories arose. We will explore the power of story in shaping belief and practice and consider how it shows (as opposed to tells) us how to embody Kingdom values in the face of corruption, apathy, violence, and lust for power.

BL508 Revelation

This course studies the book of Revelation within its historical, political, and literary contexts. Particular emphasis is placed on the apocalyptic nature of the work within the first century C.E. Additionally, it studies the impact this book has had on contemporary views on eschatology. Students will examine the variety of ways Revelation can be used in the church, including preaching, liturgy, and pastoral care.

BL509 Conflict in the Created Order

This course will explore how the conflict between the ordering word of God and the disordering waters of the deep in the creation story is recapitulated in the narrative, prophetic, and wisdom literature. We will explore why Western Christians have tended to overlook this conflict, and how a deeper understanding of it can revitalize Christian communities.

BL511 Isaiah

Isaiah's prophecies speak just as well about judgment and justice as they do about hope and comfort. That range makes this book extremely relevant for our day. These ancient words speak to us as individuals, congregations, and as human beings on a fragile planet. In this course we will pay careful attention to the original contexts of these words so that we can better understand what they meant to their original audience. But we will also look at how they have been recontextualized for different times including the early church as they tried to understand their experience in Jesus Christ.

BL513 Studies in Prophets

This course will explore the role of prophets in Israelite society, their theology, and their impact on Western culture.

BL512 Scripture's Use of Scripture

The New Testament is fundamental to the development of Nicene Trinitarian doctrine. This course will focus on that forward movement — how the NT texts helped shape later conciliar Trinitarian theology — as well as on the corresponding backward movement — how later Trinitarian doctrine can help us to reread the New Testament in the Church today.

BL516 Days of Elijah and Elisha

We will take a deep dive into the Elijah and Elisha cycles in I & II Kings and will consider them in the light of the larger historical context of the Israelite monarchy into which these early prophets enacted, embodied, and articulated the Word of the Lord. The course will explore the artistry, drama, and theology of Israelite storytelling generally but with focused attention on these prophetic narratives. We will consider the cultural, historical, and theological context out of which these dramatic stories arose and will discover their transforming power through performance.

BL521 Ruth and Esther

This course offers a literary and theological exposition of Ruth and Esther—two small books that offer large insights for today. Emphasis is on becoming more careful and responsible readers of Scripture. This course offers examples of how to engage an Old Testament book via in-depth exegesis, using a variety of critical tools.

BL523 Joshua and the Paradox of Grace

Explore the book of Joshua as an entryway into the historical and theological issues surrounding Israel's struggle to claim its

God-given inheritance in the Land of Canaan. We'll seek distinctive ways to read this book as the Church and discover ways to live into this biblical story of incorporation and exclusion, hopelessness and salvation, apostasy and grace.

BL525 Art of the Sabbath

In this course we will explore the biblical and theological context of the Sabbath and its historical development throughout the Old and New Testaments as well as in Jewish and Christian practice up until today, with a view toward how Sabbath practice can inform and shape Christian living and ministry. Topics will include Sabbath time, Sabbath practices and spiritual formation, Sabbath-keeping and Christian identity, the social, economic, and ecological dimensions of the Sabbath, Sabbath and Sunday, and more.

BL526 Psalms and Wisdom Literature

An exegetical study of selected psalms in the context of both the Old Testament and the larger canon of Scripture. Attention is given to the role of the psalms in the liturgical, devotional, and theological life of the church. The Wisdom Literature of the Bible explores the forms, vocabulary, and concepts of wisdom in the Bible, emphasizing Proverbs, Job, Song of Solomon, and Ecclesiastes.

BL529 Gospel According to Matthew

An overview of the theology and narrative shaping of the first gospel, using close readings of selected texts. Particular attention is paid to Matthew's vision for discipleship, the church, and Christian life and witness.

BL530 Letter to the Romans

Introduction and overview of the letter, together with exegetical study of selected portions in Greek.

BL532 Gospel of John

An overview of the theological and narrative shaping of the fourth gospel, using close readings of selected texts. Particular attention is paid to John's literary design and theological distinctiveness.

BL533 Gospel of Mark

An exegetical exploration of the gospel of Mark which examines the structure of the gospel; the main lines of the story, places and times; the relationship of the characters; the function of the questions; and what the narrator really wants to say through his story. Key passages will be translated.

BL535 Interpreting the Parables

A survey of recent approaches to interpreting the parables of Jesus provides the context for considering hermeneutical issues in preaching and teaching the parables.

BL540 Corinthian Correspondence

An exploration of Paul's First and Second letters to the Corinthians, with particular attention to the interaction between pastoral engagement and theological reflection.

BL544 Hebrews

The Epistle to the Hebrews has been labelled the "riddle of the New Testament." The author, date, and occasion are unknown, and yet Hebrews has captivated Christians through the centuries. The author-whoever they may be- draws upon Jewish Scripture and history in order to encourage his audience to recognize the work of God in their midst. This course will engage with modern Hebrews scholarship and offer an overview of the Epistle to the Hebrews with a particular focus on its theology, use of Scripture, and usefulness for the Church today.

BL545 Galatians

In a white heat of passion, Paul wrote to the churches he founded in Galatia to defend what he called "the truth of the gospel" against a particularly insidious imposter. This course will explore Paul's defense of his gospel with a view to what it entails for today's church, as we face our own challenges of fidelity to the truth and the rejection of counterfeits.

BL551 Disability, Bible and the Pastoral Imagination

What do people with disabilities find when they try to find themselves in our biblical texts? This course addresses some of the issues, hermeneutical and pastoral, that people with disabilities encounter when reading the Bible. The class will read interpretative texts written by persons with a variety of disabilities and consider how their insights can support our pastoral imagination.

BL612 Greek Reading/Performance

Using memorization and movement as the primary tools of exegesis, students engage with one New Testament narrative deeply for 14 weeks. This course builds on BL300, BL301 deepening students' engagement with the Bible. Pass/fail, 1.5 cr

BL616 Christianity & Literature

A study of the biblical and theological motifs in selected literature by both classical and contemporary authors. Emphasis is on the use/study of such works in ministry settings, as well as their relevance for those involved in leadership roles in the church.

BL618 Advanced Biblical Hebrew

Advanced interactive learning in the language and theology of the Old Testament. Students develop a deeper understanding of grammar, syntax, and interpretation through hearing, speaking, and reading Hebrew, as well as memorizing and enacting biblical stories. This course is held off-site as a 10 ½ day overnight retreat experience. Pre-work includes grammar review, translation and creative exegetical project. Post-work involves a dramatic analysis paper. Prerequisite: BL310 & BL311

CC520 Trauma Informed Care in Ministry

This course will equip Christian leaders to approach ministry from a traumainformed perspective. Students will explore theological topics related to trauma and suffering, understand the broad-reaching impact of psychological trauma on individuals and communities, and examine models for trauma-informed ministry. The impact of vicarious trauma on Christian leaders will also be addressed.

DM850 Orientation Seminar

Gives an introduction to the major administrative and academic components of the program, as well as to the specialized track (theme) that identifies the particular focus of the cohort. Course descriptions vary depending on the faculty and cohort topic. The course description will be available in the syllabus. Includes a one-week in-person seminar (some professors may choose to combine the seminars into two consecutive weeks per year). 6 cr

DM851 Orientation Seminar

A continuation of DM850. Students identify a challenge, opportunity, or topic that needs to be addressed in their ministry setting. Includes a one-week inperson seminar (some professors may choose to combine the seminars into two consecutive weeks per year). 6 cr

DM860 Research Seminar

Provides tools and skills to develop and strengthen academic research and writing. Students learn to structure and format an academic professional paper, providing a model for their project proposal and guidance for their practicum. Students will critically reflect on the practices of ministry and learn to interpret those practices within an academic theological framework. Course descriptions vary depending on the faculty and cohort topic. The course description will be available in the syllabus. Includes a one-week in-person seminar (some professors may choose to combine the seminars into two consecutive weeks per year). 6 cr

DM861 Research Seminar

A continuation of DM860. Students determine what needs to be changed or achieved in their ministry to address the challenge, opportunity or topic they have identified. Students design a thesis project proposal. Includes a one-week inperson seminar (some professors may choose to combine the seminars into two consecutive weeks per year). 6 cr

DM870 Thesis Seminar

Equips students with tools required for the completion of their D.Min. thesis. Course descriptions vary depending on the faculty and topic. The course description will be available in the syllabus. Includes a one-week in-person seminar (some professors may choose to combine the seminars into two consecutive weeks per year). 6 cr

DM871 Thesis Seminar

A continuation of DM860. Includes a oneweek in-person seminar (some professors may choose to combine the seminars into two consecutive weeks per year). 6 cr

DM940 Thesis Project

The student demonstrates his or her ability to design and conduct a project that is biblically and theologically grounded, supported by the literature, and relevant to the practice of ministry. Students write a five-chapter scholarly paper that introduces, develops, and assesses the effectiveness of the project. The various chapters focus on the need and rationale for the project, the biblical and theological texts/ theories that undergird the project, the issue the project addresses, and the results of what they learned following completion of the project. The doctoral project phase of the D.Min. program takes an additional year to complete and concludes with the presentation and defense of the thesis project before the faculty advisor and project readers. 0 cr

MA490 MA Capstone

A culmination course for the Master of Arts program. The class requires a culminating final project that addresses a contemporary issue deeply and competently in a way that demonstrates integrated reflection on Scripture, theology and Christian practice.

MN112 Multiplying Churches

Over the centuries, the church has grown as a multiplying movement from house to house, family to family, city to city, nation to nation, and continent to continent. The mission of the Church is the mission of God - an expansive vision where all people receive God's Kingdom, live under God's compassionate rule and demanding care, and receive the full and free life that Jesus offers, while being empowered by the Holy Spirit. The work of the Church is to join God's mission in spreading the word (being witnesses) to God's work. This is a mission of multiplications ... as Jesus says, when a seed is planted in the ground, it produces more seeds, more fruit, more life. This is the Kingdom of God. In this course, we will explore the biblical and theological foundations for multiplications, the work of contextualization, how to multiply disciples and leaders, and examine some of the contemporary issues and methods in multiplication today.

MN301 Practice of Preaching

Presuming a foundation in homiletics, this course will help students to further develop the skills they will need to prepare and deliver sermons that proclaim God's good news, both in the pulpit and out of it.

MN335 Foundations of the Christian Life

An introductory course for all MDiv and MA students, this course invites students to explore 1) God's story through an introduction to the story of Scripture, 2) our stories through an exploration of our callings to be disciples with particular vocations in the world, and 3) cultural stories through acknowledging the cultural contexts in which we live out these callings and exploring specific contemporary cultural dynamics and realities.

MN336 Christian Interior Life

This course explores the ways in which a minister's life history, spiritual growth, and vocation intersect and shape his/her personal and professional identity. Students will reflect on their own psychological and spiritual development and their opportunities for personal growth. They will develop their own particular plans for self-care.

MN350 Worship Foundations

This course is an exploration of the biblical and theological foundations of Christian worship. These foundations are explored with an eye, an ear, and especially a heart for planning and leading worship richly pastorally. Occasions of worship explored include weekly communal worship, sacraments, Baptism, the Lord's Supper, communal daily prayer, weddings, and funerals.

MN351 Preaching Foundations

This course explores and grasps a biblical and Reformed vision of preaching. Includes a sermon preparation workshop and a "lab" in which written and preached sermons are carefully analyzed by faculty and peers. Significant homiletical concerns are presented, discussed, clarified, and applied to the task of preaching.

MN355 Missional Preaching

This is a course exploring the theology and practice of preaching from the framework of a missional ecclesiology. Students will engage biblical, theological, and practical aspects of preaching with a view towards inspiring congregations to missional witness as well as towards gaining confidence for preaching in contexts beyond the local congregation. Students will also have the opportunity to enhance specific skills and practices essential to preaching including cultural exegesis, contextualization, and content development. Students will be given opportunities to write, deliver, and receive feedback on a sermon crafted towards a specific context. This course will focus on sending congregations into mission and preaching in pre-churched, de-churched, and post-Christian contexts.

MN361 Introduction to Disability and the Church

Introduces different conceptions, definitions, and expressions of disability in the United States. Gives general overview of the history of disability in the U.S. and introduces students to innovative practitioners who paved the way for today's disability theology. Covers service systems and advocacy groups that support person with disabilities. Required for GCDM, elective for other programs.

MN390 Worship Practicum I: Stewardship of Daily Chapel

Students taking this course will be part of a team that assists other students, staff, faculty, and guests in planning and leading daily worship. Course meets each week for 1.5 hours to plan and reflect on past services. Course 1 of 2. 1.5 cr

MN391 Worship Practicum II: Stewardship of Daily Chapel

Stewardship of Daily Chapter Students taking this course will be part of a team that assists other students, staff, faculty, and guests in planning and leading daily worship. Course meets each week for 1.5 hours to plan and reflect on past services. Course 2 of 2. 1.5 cr

MN412 Christian Life & Mission

An introduction to the church's selfunderstanding as a missional and eschatological community formed by the good news of Jesus Christ and made to be its living witness. The course seeks to cultivate a biblical-theological rationale for the existence of the church and for its mission, an appreciation for the historical, cultural, and contextual rootedness of the church, an understanding of the dynamic interaction between the gospel and human cultures, and a vision for what missional faithfulness requires of any church in its own time and place.

MN415 Practice of Counsel and Care

In this introductory course, students explore giving counsel and offering care as ministers of Word and sacrament. They develop an understanding of the fundamental principles of pastoral care and acquire basic skills required for giving counsel and offering care. Numerous pastoral themes are addressed in lectures, learning labs, and small group interaction. Students will be encouraged to develop their own pastoral presence in offering counsel and care.

MN490 Leading Christian Communities

What is this strange and beautiful, graceriddled, and often distorted work of being a pastor? What is so peculiar about this vocation? And why do we take on the stole with joy, but also with fear and trembling? Together, we'll ponder Scripture and voices both ancient and new to rekindle our pastoral imagination.

MN503 Global Leadership Summit

This course is in partnership with the Willow Creek Global Leadership Summit (GLS). The purpose of this course is to appreciatively and critically engage The Global Leadership Summit, seeking to explore, question, and develop the skills, practices, and habits for leading Christian communities. Participants work online July and August and attend the GLS at or a location near the student. Attendance is required. The West Michigan group will meet in person the evening before and the evening of the last day of the conference. Those outside West Michigan will meet virtually. Tuition covers entrance to the GLS.

MN506 By Christ, Washed and Well Fed

Word and Sacrament are gifts by which Christ himself gives us life—his life. With these gifts, Christ refreshes and sustains us in that life, communally and personally. This course will be a robust theological, pastoral, missional and liturgical exploration of Baptism and the Lord's Supper. We'll listen for the Spirit to discover how we—each according to our calling and context—might set forth the gifts of God for the people of God faithfully and well.

MN508 Writing/Reading for the Pastoral Life

Ecclesiastes 12 says there is no end to the making of many books, and in the pastoral life there is no end to the writing and saying of many words. Words have enormous power—after all, it was with words that God spoke his creation into being. This course helps students choose and use words with care and thoughtfulness. We will work toward becoming better writers (and readers), and in the process become better preachers, teachers and pastors. 1.5 cr

MN513 Basic Clinical Pastoral Education

A pastoral ministry practicum that integrates the theory and practice of ministry in a clinical setting with special attention given to the person in ministry. A basic practicum accredited by the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education. Must be taken with PR413 and PR414.

MN517 Faithful and Effective Response to Domestic Violence

This course explores the theories, resources, and strategies of pastoral and congregational care to respond faithfully and effectively to the issue of domestic violence based on theological understandings of God and human experience. This course draws upon the insights of psychology, sociology, and theology to guide pastoral and congregational care into a more faithful and effective praxis. The course draws from scriptural, theological, socio-scientific, and experiential resources and invites students to engage those resources in ways that enhance their ability to offer care and to lead communities of care in response to the issue of domestic violence.

MN524 Faith, Forgiveness, and Healing

In this course, students study the theory and methods relevant to integrating health and wellness, forgiveness and reconciliation into the life of the Christian public leader, the congregation, and the larger community. Physical, emotional, social, intellectual, vocational, and spiritual issues related to forgiveness and healing are explored. Special attention is given to how biblical, theological, and pastoral perspectives on forgiveness and healing inform the task of interpreting and confessing the gospel in situations of conflict and suffering.

MN526 Ministering to the Toughest People to Love

The church is not immune to trauma, abuse, narcissism, conflict, and addictions of all kinds. Ministering to the so-called "difficult" people can be exhausting, confusing, and lead to burnout or an early exit from ministry. This course will explore stories and symptoms commonly seen across a range of ecclesial traditions. We will explore a theology that views every human, even difficult people, as image-bearers, yet elaborate on troubling relational and systemic dynamics of sin that lead to chaos and confusion in the church. We will discuss what pastors need to do for their own self-care, trauma resilience, and continued resourcing beyond their seminary education.

MN533 Justice, Discipleship, and the Church

This course explores how the church can form disciples with a vision of justice. It engages the biblical and theological roots of Christian commitments to justice and places contemporary interest in social justice within a larger biblical, theological, and historical context. Students will have the opportunity to articulate a biblical theology of justice and explore how the church can shape disciples with a life-long commitment to justice.

MN534 Preaching as Pastoral Care

This course is designed to provide the opportunity to think deeply, practically, and with complexity about the mysterious relationship between preaching and pastoral care. In this course, we'll lean on the wisdom of preacher/pastor Eugene Peterson. In his book, Five Smooth Stones of Pastoral Work, he says, "Pastoral work begins at Pulpit, the Font, the Table; it continues in the hospital room, the family room, the counseling room, the committee room. The pastor who leads people in worship is companion to those same people between acts of worship."

MN538 Transforming Conflict from the Inside Out

This course explores multiple layers of conflict-intrapersonal, interpersonal, and communal—as opportunities for transformation. Students will develop a theology of compassion and learn the skills of compassionate communication as a means of connecting to God, self, and others in the midst of difference, disagreement, and conflict. The course seeks to enhance specific competencies in speaking honestly, listening empathetically, responding to criticism, staying in dialogue, dealing with guilt and grief, and using restorative circles for community-wide crises. Experientially based; includes case studies, role plays, journaling, and small group work.

MN539 Living the Christian Life According to Pop Christian Culture

Through generous and critical engagement with recent best-selling Christian books, this course will explore the different visions of living the Christian life that emerge. We will look at authors "people in the pews" are reading, like Francis Chan, Bob Goff, Sarah Young, Rob Bell, Shane Claiborne, and Ann Voskamp. We will engage with some theological, classical, and non-traditional Christian voices to explore their visions of the Christian life. Students will be invited to practice reading with discernment, to articulate their convictions about living the Christian life and to imagine how to encourage faithful living in their current and future ministry settings.

MN540 The Mindful Life

Recent developments in interpersonal neurobiology reveal more clearly than ever the relational nature of human beings. This conversation intersects with growing interest in Eastern forms of meditation, research on shame and wholeness, new therapeutic models for growth and change, and renewed Christian interest in contemplative practices. This course employs a biblical/ theological lens as it explores current developments theoretically and practically for Christians and skeptics alike who long to flourish in a broken world.

MN549 Preaching in the Dark

We will consider a range of ways of thinking about the relationship between the gospel and our culture(s) and will practice ways of faithful and fruitful preaching from the Word on the cultural issues confronting the church in the early part of the 21st century. Special attention will be paid the growing number of "Millennials" who self-identify as "NONES" —whatever they believe and however they practice it, the local church is not necessary to them.

MN550 Keeping and Talking the Word

A course designed to provide each person with the time and space to explore and exercise certain primal spiritual disciplines of the people of God, namely Scripture contemplation/ memorization/interiorization, spiritual reading, silence and mutual encouragement and pastoral performance. In alternating rhythms of the same, we will listen carefully to the witness of faithful brothers and sisters who have gone before us and to one another, as well, in an attempt to ready ourselves for "a long obedience in the same direction."

MN555 Presbyterian Confessions/Polity

Study of the Confessions and Book of Order of the PC(USA) is intended to give students good knowledge of the confessional tradition, directory of worship and form of government of the PC(USA). This course will help students to prepare for ordination exams. 1.5 cr

MN556 Psychology and Christian Spirituality

There is a strong tradition of psychological wisdom with the contemplative Christian tradition. In fact, the contemplative tradition provides a kind of framework for self-reflection, for healthy intimacy, and for genuine spirituality. Looking at resources from Augustine and Calvin, Evagrius and Theresa, we'll see that contemporary ministry, pastoral care, and mission can all be aided by a rich and deep understanding of Christian spirituality.

MN558 Worship Renewal in Changing World

The renewal of God's people—in scripture and in the church's history—nearly always begins with a renewal of its worship. This course looks at some of the principles and practices that God, by the power of the Holy Spirit, is using to accomplish worship renewal in the body of Christ in our fastchanging world. Reading, discussion, and exercises will be guided by core convictions articulated by the Calvin Institute of Christian Worship (CICW). We will be especially attentive to this fraught cultural moment colored by the pandemic and an increasing awareness of racism in our country. Key learning will take place at the renowned CICW Symposium for Worship, which will be entirely online with panels, podcasts, livestream worship, webinars, etc offered throughout the month of January 2021. We will "attend" and process this event together, but because the events go to January 26, students should plan on work for this course extending into the first week of the Spring semester.

MN559 Pastoral Imagination

Pastor. A word we toss around freely. A word that evokes a myriad of images and reactions (from intrigue to boredom to dread). But what does it mean to be a pastor? How do we see the pastoral vocation with new eyes? How do we honor this ancient work and guard its essence as we navigate the possibilities and upheavals of a new world? How do we see the places and the people where we are called to love and live with a holy, Spirit-infused imagination?

MN562 Liturgical Shenanigans: Ritual Theory and Christian Formation

Rituals are enacted everyday by humans in all cultures-at theaters and stadiums, libraries and marketplaces, bathrooms and fire pits, as well as places of worship. They are one of the most important ways we both express and shape our understanding of the meaning of life. The course will have three primary learning modes: 1) we will observe ritual activity in culture (our own and others') that either fits or fights the gospel; 2) we will engage readings at the intersection of cultural anthropology and practical theology; and 3) we'll experiment with liturgical shenanigans-attending to the work of the Spirit in and through our holy play in the neighborhood of symbol, performance, embodiment, and transcendence.

MN564 Practice of Evangelism

The term "evangelism" is often perceived as a four-letter word, freighted with negative connotations in our society and even in church. In this course students will overview the biblical foundations of evangelism, consider different theologies and practices of evangelism across time periods, cultures, and Christian traditions. Students will also explore and evaluate theologies of conversion. Finally, students will develop and articulate a context-dependent theology of evangelism and will participate in the practice of evangelism.

MN569 Christian Education and Dismantling Racism

This course analyzes institutionalized racism and proposes a series of frameworks for engaging and dismantling racism and for supporting multicultural congregational learning. We will explore the dynamics of human responses to differences. We will focus on developing "humble curiosity," deepening our willingness to move toward rather than away from differences, and on managing anxiety in the face of the unknown or unfamiliar. Our work together has the potential for tremendous impact on individuals, congregations, and communities, enabling us as Christian leaders to empower the disenfranchised and create environments characterized by grace, love, solidarity, peace, and justice. 1.5 cr

MN573 The Practice of Youth Ministry

Students will be introduced to various models of youth ministry and will become familiar with the theological and social scientific resources that will aid them in evaluating and reforming the practice of congregational and para-church ministry. Students will consider theories of development, articulate a theological foundation for youth ministry, and develop an appreciation for the potential impact of peer-to-peer ministry. They will also explore some of the challenges faced by youth ministers and consider how technology factors into discipling networked youth.

MN574 Foundations of Youth Ministry

This course provides the foundational concepts and best practices to prepare the student for ministry to adolescents in both a church and non-church settings. The course will provide a basic understanding of adolescent development, contemporary culture, and incarnational witness. The course is designed to help the student to think and respond theologically to the needs and expectations of adolescents and provides practical tools enabling the student to design a theologically sound youth ministry program suitable in any context. 1.5 cr

MN575 Theology and Philosophy of Youth Ministry

This course seeks to understand the philosophical theories as well as how Biblical principles have been examined and applied historically to Youth Ministry. Attention will be given to how to implement the discipleship process & cultivate faith development.

MN577 Imagining a New Future: Biographies of Resistance and Hope

Enjoying the biographies of Dietrich Bonhoeffer, Dorothy Day, and Fannie Lou Hamer, we will delve into the lives of ordinary Christians living in extraordinary times, women and men who peered through a bleak reality and imagined God's New Day.

MN580 Healing Ministry of the Church

What is healing? What does it mean to be healthy? What does Jesus' life and ministry model for us about how God defines health and offers healing? How does one's definition of health and healing influence one's understanding of faithful ministry on the whole? Through dialogue around questions like these, students will be invited to: (1) gain an overview of how the Church has historically understood what it means to heal and be healed; (2) critically engage existing understandings of health and healing alongside a close reading of key biblical texts (with particular attention paid to the healing ministry of Jesus); and (3) construct their own practically actionable theology of healing.

MN581 Ministry and Margins

Explores the boundary-crossing ministry of Jesus, in particular how he redefined the margin and the center with a Kingdom perspective. The class will consider ways in which ministry to and with those who are often marginalized in our society can amplify the witness of our congregations. People groups that are underserved include, but are not limited to, the elderly or homebound, people suffering from dementia, people in group homes, people struggling with literacy, people with disabilities, people living in poverty, immigrant communities, and people without homes.

MN582 Ministry, Aging and Dementia

Aging presents us with both pastoral challenges and important gifts for individuals and the body of Christ. How do we walk well with and learn from those who are in the final stage of their earthly journeys? One increasingly common aspect of aging that acutely challenges the faith, hope, and love of all of us is dementia. Together we will explore theological and pastoral resources for dealing faithfully with those who suffer from dementia, and those who care for them.

MN583 We All Worship: Disability and Worship

Many people with disabilities have spiritual needs that are not being met and gifts that are not being exercised in the context of congregational worship. This course explores worship as the focal point of our shared Christian identity, the power center of our myriad gifts for building up the body of Christ, and the launching pad for our multifaceted witness in the world.

MN586 Disability and Community Supports

Inclusive faith communities have the power to touch the lives of people with disabilities and their families in multiple ways but often have a difficult time talking and working with "secular" agencies, providers and advocacy groups. This course explores the spiritual foundations in current issues in disability services and supports the potential roles of faith communities to address them, resources from other perspectives that congregations can use, and effective strategies for dialogue and partnership with non-faith based agencies and organizations.

MN587 Living into Community: Friendship House

In this course students will spend time critically reflecting upon what it means to live into community as an act of mutual discipleship. Students will engage questions such as: What is discipleship? What is a Christian community? What is the difference between a Christian community and a social group? And, what does it mean to belong to, rather than simply be included in, a Christian community? Intended for residents of Friendship House but is open to other interested students. In Residence only.

MN588 Summer Institute on Theology and Disability Travel Seminar

The vision of the Summer Institute on Theology and Disability is to expand the depth and breadth of theological inquiry and resources that address and include the gifts, needs, and contributions of people with disabilities and their families to theological learning and religious practice. Attend this unique week-long gathering of theologians, academics, ministry leaders, people with disabilities, and others to explore the intersection of faith and disability. Event has included presenters such as Stanley Hauerwas, Hans Reinders, John Swinton, Amos Yong, and Candida Moss. Erik Carter, Bill Gaventa, and Ben Conner, who have taught in the Graduate Certificate in Disability and Ministry, are on the faculty of the SITD.

MN590 Deaf Theology and Ministry

We will explore biblical narratives through Deaf perspectives to develop a Christian theology of ministry that is with, of, by and for the Deaf. Students will discern how to model a Deaf ministry that is focused not on the difference from being hearing, but upon being Deaf in the image of God.

MN591 Strategies for an Inclusive Church

This course addresses practical strategies and promising pathways for moving beyond proclamations of inclusiveness and toward practices of invitation, hospitality, and belonging. Students will learn about effective starting points, supports, and strategies for enabling people with disabilities and their families to participate deeply in congregational life and experience belonging within a church community.

MN592 Practicing the Presence of People

This course explores the unique vocation of practicing presence. Christians are called to the practice of God's presence, but we in turn become that very presence to the other—the spouse and the stranger, persons with disabilities and the disenfranchised—whoever the "other" may be. In this course, we will explore the unique ministry of presence through Henri Nouwen and L'Arche, communities of people with disabilities around the world. We will come to understand what "presence" means, how to identify obstacles to presence (in ourselves and in communities), and how to nurture a loving attentiveness to the other.

MN593 These Shimmering Truths

Through theological essays, iconography, music, visual art, fiction, poetry, architecture, and more, we will ponder and experience what C.S. Lewis referred to as the "baptized imagination." Together, we will contemplate a myriad of questions: What do we mean by "Christian Imagination"? Why is it essential? And how do we nurture this sacred gift?

MN595 Intellectual Disability and the Church

This course focuses on ministry in the context of what is commonly, but not exclusively, termed 'intellectual disability'-although it is imperative that we acknowledge the broader, multifaceted human experience of disability within which the experience associated with intellectual disability and the secular and theological scholarship that attaches to it to find expression. The course explores both the complexities of theological perceptions and practices in relation to intellectual disability, and the ensuing challenges for persons with intellectual disabilities and those who live in close relationship with them, within the con-temporary Church. Theological assumptions about the nature of faith, participation and ministry will be examined in light of the lived experience of intellectual disability and of our understanding of God, His mission and engagement with human beings, leading to potential transformation of practice.

MN596 Trauma and Disability

This course provides a biblical, theological, and pastoral introduction to trauma and care of trauma survivors. We will particularly focus on contemporary intersections between the experiences of disability and trauma. Acknowledging the extensive experience of trauma across our society, we will also attend to practices of "trauma stewardship" in this course navigating secondary traumatization in our vocational callings as well as negotiating any of our own trauma backgrounds as we are formed as pastors, teachers, and caregivers.

MN597 Mental Health and Ministry

This course will explore the interface between theology and mental health with a particular focus on what it is that Christian ministry brings to the conversation that other disciplines do not. This course will focus on the experience of people with mental health challenges and the ways in which their insights can shape and transform our practices.

MN620 Generous Leadership

Leaders need to align financial resources when forming churches/ministries. This course surveys biblical generosity and philanthropic practices and teaches skills to develop relationships with donors, clarify ministry vision, and join donor resources.

PR348 Dual Track Cohort Group 8 Students in the M.Div.-MSW Dual Track program meet bi-weekly during all of the years of the Dual Track program, except years one and two of the M.Div. distance learning format. 0.5 cr each

PR401 Abbey 1 PR402 Abbey 2 PR403 Abbey 3 PR404 Abbey 4 PR405 Abbey 5 PR406 Abbey 6

The Abbey, a 0.5 credit course held for six semesters, invites students into intentional relationships with faculty and fellow students to explore spiritual disciplines, engage in vocational discernment, and integrate their classroom learning with their life of faith. As part of the Abbey, students will also engage in the practice of preaching outside of the classroom and be invited to reflect upon their experience of and sense of call to preaching. 0.5 cr each

PR411 Practice of Ministry: Internship 1

PR412 Practice of Ministry: Internship 2

PR413 Practice of Ministry: Internship 3

PR414 Practice of Ministry: Internship 4

This 4-course sequence in the M.Div. program provides a place for students to practice ministry and engage in theological reflection on their experiences. Through contextual learning, it offers students the opportunity to integrate theory and practice while they engage in vocational discernment and grow in ministerial identity. Students enter a ministry setting under the guidance of a supervisor-mentor and with the support of a mentoring team who will do their best to foster a nurturing, yet challenging learning environment. WTS course work complements and enriches the student formation and learning taking place in students' ministry sites. Ministry settings for each student are identified through a careful process that involves vocational discernment and reflection in conversation with the director of student life. 1.5 cr each

PR450 Intercultural Immersion

This course seeks to foster the global awareness and cultural engagement of students, helping them respect, engage, and learn from people and perspectives other than their own, understand more deeply the impact of different cultures on the church and Christian Faith, and be more sensitive to power dynamics and social issues that face and shape Christians and the church.

It does this by introducing students to three primary frameworks-cultural intelligence, critical contextualization, and postcolonial theory-and then using those frameworks as key postures throughout the class and their experience. Students will also explore key social issues and contextual challenges of the particular place and culture in which the class is immersed. Finally, given the multifaith and multicultural nature of the societies in which students will serve, students will reflect on ways in which their experience might shape their lives and ministries in their home context.

TH102 Introduction to Theological Research

A study of research methodology, library use, and basic reference works for theological research. Required of all students who do not have a bachelor's degree or its equivalent or are admitted on academic probation.

TH110 Theology for Ministry

Every believer is doing theology. We all reflect on who the Triune God is, how God relates to us and all that God has made, and how we relate to God and others in response. This course offers an overview of key Christian doctrines to deepen our thinking and help us to make richer connections between what we believe and how we go about out callings.

TH300 Church History I

The first course is a two-part sequence, this course explores the life and witness of the church from the New Testament era to the Protestant Reformation.

TH301 Church History II

The second course in a two-part sequence, this course explores the life and witness of the church from the Protestant Reformation to the present.

TH310 Systematic Theology I

The first course in a two-part sequence, this course explores four major Christian doctrines: the doctrines of God, creation, humanity, and Christ. Exploring these expansive topics will include an examination of the doctrine of the Trinity, the divine attributes, creation, humanity, the image of God, sin, providence, and the significance of the life, death, resurrection, and ascension of Christ. Students will be exposed to both current and historical perspectives on these themes.

TH311 Systematic Theology II

The second course in a two-part sequence, this course explores the doctrines of the Holy Spirit, salvation, church and sacraments and eschatology. Exploring these expansive topics will include an examination of the work of the Spirit in the believing community, scripture and divine revelation, justification, sanctification, and the final judgment, as well as the theology of Word and Sacraments in the church. Readings will range from early church to contemporary sources.

TH440 Christian Life and Ethics

This course explores how the theological vision of the Christian community expresses itself in specific intentions, practices, virtues, and actions and how Christian communities can grow in moral discernment. Both ethical theory as well as contemporary ethical issues will be examined.

TH451 RCA Standards and Polity

(recommended for RCA candidates) This course introduces students to the standards and polity of the Reformed Church in America. Students learn about the history and content of the Book of Church Order and the Belgic Confession, the Heidelberg Catechism, the Canons of Dort, and the Belhar Confession, and apply these documents to life in the church today.

TH490 Credo

In this senior seminar, students will write a paper of approximately 25-35 pages in which they will give an account of their personal theology by articulating their beliefs concerning the central loci of Christian teaching, in conversation with their respective denominational traditions, and in language that can be understood by an educated church layperson. Prerequisite: MN412, TH310, TH311.

TH505 Creation Calling

Creation is loved into being and sustained by the Triune God, who also has a glorious eschatological future for it. Human beings are called to keep it in ways that are consonant with God's purposes, but instead, creation calls out in protest at having to bear the consequences of our alienation from God. Through readings, film, guest speakers, and field trips, this course will help us to think with scriptural and theological wisdom about the doctrine of creation and 'creation care' issues and will also help us to discover ways to act well towards the rest of creation in our various ministry settinas.

TH518 Eschatology: Christian Hope and the Last Things

Eschatology (the study of the "last things") concerns Christian hope for the future consummation of all of God's promises and purposes and what this means for Christian living today. Drawing on biblical scholars and theologians past and present, as well as art, music, and literature, this course will explore scripturally-founded contours for thinking wisely about the "last things," and help us to recognize the impact of our eschatological views on our discipleship now.

TH532 Augustine of Hippo: His Life and Thought

This course explores the life and thought of Augustine. Students will engage this North African Christian living on the margins of the crumbling Roman Empire in his own words, reading both selections from classics like Confessions and On the Trinity and lesser-known texts stemming more directly from Augustine's pastoral ministry. We will consider some major streams of thought important for understanding Augustine's work (Manicheism, Platonism, Donatism, Pelagianism) as well as exploring the key features of his theology.

TH533 From Africa to Anatolia: Mothers and Fathers of the Church

This course introduces students to early Christian theology. Parents and place of origin shape a person. This seminar engages our mothers and fathers in the faith, whose perspectives, developing in diverse contexts from urban hubs such as Carthage and Alexandria to the high plain of Cappadocia, have so profoundly shaped our own.

TH536 What Does It Mean to be Human? Help from the Early Church

In this course, we will explore early Christian conceptions of the human being, covering the topics of the nature of the soul, divisions of the human person, willing and thinking, gender, the nature and role of the passions, and death. We will focus on the fourth and fifth centuries and discuss how different models of ascetic life in this period involve anthropological assumptions.

TH537 Christ in the Early Church

In this course we will explore early Christian understandings of Christ. Our focus will be intensive reading and discussion of primary sources, which will demonstrate the breadth and richness of early Christian treatments of this theme. To complement and inform this close reading, we will also engage significant secondary sources on the topic and observe how various perspectives are situated, both in relation to differing perspectives of the time, and in the larger story of the development of the church's understandings of Christ's person and work.

TH544 20th Century Theology: Major Figures and Theological Currents

Close readings of some of the "classic" works of 20th century theology by theologians such as Barth, Bonhoeffer, Cone, Gutiérrez, Lindbeck, Jones, deLubac, von Balthasar, Zizioulas and Hauerwas. We will highlight the place of these works in larger theological and cultural currents that shaped Christian thought in this tumultuous century.

TH546 War, Peace, and Peace-Making

"Peace" is a central goal of God's plan for all of creation, and yet throughout the history of the Church, there has been much disagreement concerning how best to understand the full witness of scripture regarding war and peace, how to integrate scripture's vision of peace with justice, and what the implications of this vision are for Christian discipleship and practice. In this course those questions of war, peace, and peacemaking are explored in three movements: (1) Biblical/Theological Foundations (2) Peacemaking within and outside the Church, and (3) Restorative justice.

TH552 Karl Barth: Life and Theology

It is difficult to overestimate the importance of Barth's theology for contemporary Christian thought. Our course will include an overview of Barth's life and the forces that shaped it and his theology, and close readings of selections from his theological works. The student will gain a good overview of Barth's theological vision, his major contributions to theology and typical critiques of his thought.

TH557 Church and State in America

This course examines the relationship between church and state in America from the colonial era to the present. Along the way we will treat such topics as marriage, medicine, education, and civil religion.

TH558 A Prophet Denied: Theology, Life and Work of W.E.B. DuBois

Born during Reconstruction and dying on the eve of the March on Washington, W.E.B. Du Bois was a scholar and activist who accurately identified racism as "the problem of the 20th Century". He became a foundational figure in sociology, criminology, and international relations. This course provides an overview of Du Bois' life, scholarship, activism, spirituality, and will explore his continued relevance today.

TH559 Contemporary Theological Views of Humanity

What does it mean to be a human being? Students will explore this question through a deep engagement with David Kelsey's Eccentric Existence: A Theological Anthropology. Kelsey's groundbreaking work places a Barth-inspired and postliberal theology in conversation with the best of recent biblical scholarship and contemporary research about humanity from the social sciences. Wrestling with what it means to be a human in this day and age and tracing out the implications of that for both faith and practice are crucial and exciting theological tasks.

TH561 History of the Black Church

Galatians 3:28 beautifully asserts "there is no longer Jew or Greek, there is no longer slave or free, there is no longer male and female; for all of you are one in Christ." Even so, early in the history of the United States, African Americans found it necessary to establish the Black Church. This course examines the events and conditions necessitating that development and how the legacies of slavery, Jim Crow segregation, and persistent racism have impacted the theology and worship of the Black Church into the 21st century.

TH565 Disability and Theology in the Christian Tradition

What is disability? How has disability been understood theologically in the Christian tradition? This course examines theologies of disability with the aim of helping students to comprehend and articulate their own working theology of disability.

TH585 Christianity in China

Time magazine reporter David Aikman's book Jesus in Beijing points to the importance of this topic in its subtitle: "How Christianity is transforming China and changing the global balance of power." We will study Chinese Christianity from its earliest appearance to its contemporary expressions, learning about its history, theology, and impact. Along the way we will deal with issues such as enculturation, missions, politics, and gender.

TH590 Reading the Bible with the Dead: Retrieving Pre-modern Biblical Interpretation

This course explores the way in which reading the Bible in the company of interpreters from earlier eras can benefit the life and ministry of the church today. After examining the basic features of premodern approaches to scripture, the course explores key and controversial biblical texts (e.g., creation, Hagar, Psalms of cursing, slavery), in conversation with patristic, Reformation-era, and American antebellum sources, toward the end of helping us proclaim all of scripture as God's word.

TH593 God of the Gospel

Some of the most basic questions about God probe deeply into contemporary issues in the Christian life and ministry: Who is God? What are God's attributes? How do we come to know God? Is the Triune God made known in Jesus Christ the same as the God known through creation and through the religious practices and cultures of non-Christians? This course explores how the biblical witness to God's work in Israel and in Jesus Christ relates to these complex questions. Through the works of Herman Bavinck (1854-1921), Kwame Bediako (1945-2008) and Kate Sonderegger (1951-) we will explore contrasting, yet overlapping, responses to these questions raised by the doctrine of God.

TH618 Theological German I

Inductive study of basic German grammar and syntax and of selected texts in contemporary German theology. (on request) 1.5 cr

TH619 Theological German II

A continuation of learning modern theological German for reading and research. (on request) 1.5 cr

TH632 Introduction to the World's Religions

An introduction to the origins, beliefs, and practices of the major religions of the world. Students will be invited to develop a deeper understanding of how the world's other major religions relate to the Christian faith, how various religious texts inform religious practices, and develop tools for engaging in fruitful interreligious dialogue as Christians called to make disciples. Students will begin with the oldest known monotheistic religion (Zoroastrianism) and trace religious history into post modernity (considering New religious movements such as Baha'i, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints ("Mormons").

TH700 Orientation Seminar

This seminar orients incoming students to the Th.M. program, to life at Western Theological Seminary, and to the larger academic world of the theological disciplines. Forms a "community of scholars" in which scholarly reflection on intercultural issues is engaged. Creates new configurations of self-understanding for theological reflection in community and introduces the philosophy, format, and thesis requirements of the Th.M. program. Meets annually during the last two weeks in August. 1 cr

TH720 State of the Field

Assists the Th.M. students in the preparation of a thesis proposal by introducing the basics of academic research and writing. By the end of the course the student 1) will be able to construct a well-designed research proposal; 2) will be familiar with basic strategies and tools for research and academic writing; and 3) will plan a research strategy for writing a Th.M. research paper or thesis. 3 cr

TH735 Seminar in Theological Method

What makes one statement, opinion, or argument better or wiser than another in the fields of theology, biblical studies, ethics or practical theology? How does one best understand how scripture, tradition, reason, experience, context, and future function as authorities or factor into our understandings? We take up these difficult methodological questions and come to provisional answers, drawing from both trusted traditional understandings and contemporary discussions.

TH790 Research Paper

A major research paper, which builds upon and extends in a focused area the knowledge and critical ability gained in the basic divinity degree and includes the Th.M. coursework. The topic and plan are subject to the approval of the Th.M. Committee. The candidate's Faculty Advisor, in conjunction with a Second Reader, provides guidance for the research. 3 cr

Appendix A: Seminary Policy Regarding Records (FERPA Title IX)

Policy Regarding Use of Social Security Numbers

The seminary obtains and uses a variety of confidential information in the conduct of its business. This includes documents and other records containing Social Security Numbers. Any and all documents and records containing Social Security Numbers must be obtained, used and disclosed only for legitimate seminary purposes. Such documents and records must also be treated as confidential, which means they must be retained in secured areas or files, password protected when stored on computers, disclosed only to authorized persons, and destroyed at an appropriate time and in an appropriate manner consistent with the seminary's policies and procedures and other legal requirements. Employees who obtain, use or disclose confidential information for unauthorized or illegal reasons are subject to discipline or discharge, as well as potential criminal or civil prosecution. For additional information, please see your supervisor, the human resources advocate, or the seminary's Policy and Procedure Regarding the Use and Disclosure of Social Security Numbers.

Policy Regarding Student Records

1.0. General Guidelines Governing Keeping of Student Records

Student records are kept in the various offices of the seminary in the interest of its students and alumni/ae, to enable the seminary effectively to fulfill its mission. Western Theological Seminary determines to reflect this purpose in its records-keeping policies and consequently has adopted the following guidelines for creating and maintaining student records in its offices:

1.1 The seminary supports the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, and this statement of policy incorporates the rights accorded and the privacy guaranteed the student by this Act.

1.2. Student records information is classified in two categories, public and confidential. Public or Directory information may include the following data: name, date and place of birth, course of study, dates of attendance, high school attended, previous college attended, degrees and dates of degrees, awards and honors received, denominational affiliation, home address at time of admission, current home address, current telephone number and email address. Unless the student requests in writing that such information be withheld, public/Directory information is available to anyone. It should be noted however, that the seminary does try to exercise some restraint in the release of public information. All other information is considered to be confidential. This information will be released only upon written consent of the student, except as provided for in sections 3.2 below.

2.0 Content of Academic Records

The seminary keeps a variety of records in paper and/or digital form.

Paper-based records:

Public Information, as identified in 1.2

Confidential Information:

Grades

Semester and cumulative grade point average

Pertinent data regarding admissions:

- application
- letters of reference
- if a transfer student, recommendation from previous institution attended
- college and other seminary transcripts
- Letter of acceptance, any pertinent correspondence or other documents which the admissions office personnel deem worthy to be kept in the file

- Any relevant learning assessment testing results
- Student's discipline record and related correspondence:

a. placed at the request of a faculty member or administrator, and/or b. placed at the request of the student

• Other official correspondence between the seminary and the student

• Documentation concerning students' field education assignments.

Digital Records:

Information regarding students and documents in connection with student learning assessment are stored digitally on our academic management system, Blackbaud, our course management system, Canvas, or in Google Drive.

2.1 Access to Academic Records

• Access to student academic records is given to the faculty of students who are registered in their classes, to program Directors, to the mid-program assessment committee, and to appropriate administrative staff to assist them in the discharge of their responsibilities.

• Access is given to the student to their own records in both paper and digital form. Access digitally is through password or portal entry.

• Access is given to certain governmental agencies as specified in the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974.

• Access is given to others, whether this access be in person or transcript form, only upon the written consent of the student.

• A record of access to a student's printed academic record will be kept by the office of the VPAA and will be filed in the student's personal file. A record of access to digital academic or assessment records is logged by the respective management systems.

2.2 Release of Academic Records Information

Unless a written request to the office of the VPAA is received that public information as indicated in 1.2 not be released, such information is available upon request.

• Confidential information is released only upon the written authorization of the student, except as provided for in Section 2.1.

• When a student is under pastoral supervision of a classis or other ecclesiastical body, the seminary will request from the student written permission to release information to that ecclesiastical body. It may also inform that body of the student's progress and of any disciplinary actions.

• Transcripts of a student's academic record are released only to the student and to those whom the student authorizes. The following policies apply to the issuance of transcripts:

If possible, transcripts are issued the same day or the day following the receipt of the request. Transcripts are withheld if a student has not met his/her financial obligations to the seminary.

If a student requests the sending of a transcript to an institution accredited by the Association of Theological Schools, the VPAA may communicate any disciplinary actions taken against the student.

2.3 Storage of Records

The complete academic record of each student will be permanently stored by the seminary in secured facilities.

3.0 Student Financial Aid Records

3.1 A financial aid file is created for each applicant and contains the following:

• award letter (each student receives a copy) which indicates the apportionment of aid which is available through work scholarship or loans or a combination of both, and

• all legal documents and promissory notes signed by the student that are necessary for the disbursement of loan funds

3.2 Access to the Student Financial Aid file is limited to the following:

1. the student,

2. the VP of Finance, Accounting Associate, and Registrar,

3. the Financial Aid Committee

4. the auditors who perform the annual audit of all the financial books and records of the seminary, and

5. anyone whom the student allows by written consent.

3.3 Storage and Disposal of financial records

This file will be retained for seven years after graduation, after which the file will be destroyed. The file will be retained for seven years if a student has not graduated, after which the file will be destroyed.

4.0 Field Education

4.1 Definition

Field education files are maintained by the Office of Student Life and contain those documents related to the field educations experiences of the student. Materials in the student's file include:

- biographical data submitted on profile file form by the student,
- contracts between the student and the field placement,
- correspondence related to such placement
- evaluation statements regarding the student's learning and ministry
- student waiver form allowing the sharing of information with appropriate church contacts
- preaching assignment evaluations

The field education files are the property of the seminary and are treated as confidential

4.2 Access to the field education file is given to:

- 1. the office of Student Life
- 2. the student may review the original file and request copies
- 3. the VPAA
- 3. the mid-program assessment committee
 - 4.3 Release of field education file information

The student has the right to have information from his/her field education released to potential placements, or those designated by the student, only after an authorization for the release of information form has been submitted to the office of student life. On this form the student will indicate what he/she wants released and to whom.

4.4 Storage and Disposal of field education records

The field education files will be destroyed three years after graduation. If students do not graduate, the records will be destroyed five years after leaving the degree program.

5.0 Appeals concerning the content of records

If a student contests the contents of their academic file, their field education file, or their psychological testing file, that student may appeal to the VPAA to remove an item or qualify it. The VPAA will convene a panel to consider the case. The panel will include the Director of Student Life, the Associate Dean, and one faculty member invited by the student. The panel will determine whether or not to grant the student's appeal.

REVISED August, 2023

POLICY REGARDING FACULTY AND STAFF RECORDS

Western Theological Seminary maintains a personnel record for each of its employees. These records are the sole property of the seminary, which recognizes, under certain circumstances, the rights of access to and release of information from these personnel records. Faculty personnel records are maintained in a secure location in the office of the VPAA; all other personnel records, and all salary, benefit, and social security information, are maintained in a secure location in the Human Resources office.

1.0 Content of Personnel Records.

1.1 Public information: Name of the employee; home address; date of birth; date of beginning of service at the seminary; employee status at seminary (such as full-time, part-time, tenured, adjunct professor, etc.); any other information the employee has submitted for public access (such as a curriculum vita or resume).

1.2. Confidential information: Salary and benefits; social security number; employee evaluations and growth covenants; disciplinary record; references; and other official correspondence between the seminary and the employee.

2.0 Access to Personnel Records.

2.1 Upon reasonable prior written notice, employees have access to personnel records regarding themselves except those documents to which the employee has explicitly waived access in writing (such as letters of reference, etc.).

2.2 Administrative staff and their designated agents (e.g., attorneys, consultants, etc.) have access to personnel records only to assist them in the discharge of their seminary responsibilities.

2.3 Upon majority vote of the Board of Trustees, the Board has access, in executive session, to all personnel records.

2.4 Upon explicit written authorization from the individual regarding whom personnel records are requested, other persons may have access in person or by correspondence.

2.5 The HR Director and the VPAA are responsible for access to and release of confidential personnel records. They are authorized to interpret and enforce these guidelines, and they shall maintain in each personnel record written documentation of such access.

3.0 Release of Personnel Records and Personnel Records information

3.1 Public information is normally released except when the person about whom the records pertain provides an explicit written request to the HR Director or the VPAA not to release the information.

3.2 Confidential information is normally released (a) upon the explicit written authorization for release by the person about whom the records pertain, or (b) upon service of a lawful subpoena. In the event of any question relating to whether an authorization or a subpoena is proper, the seminary may, in its sole discretion, consult with legal counsel prior to releasing such information.

4.0 Storage of Records

The complete record of each employee is stored by the seminary in secured facilities. Confidential information is normally destroyed seven years after the employee leaves the seminary; provided, however, that, in the discretion of the VPAA and/or the HR Director, or at the specific direction of the Board of Trustees in executive session, such confidential information may be kept indefinitely when it is deemed to be unusually sensitive or significant.

Appendix B: Satisfactory Academic Progress for Financial Aid/Return of Title IV Funds

Satisfactory Academic Progress for Financial Aid

Western Theological Seminary is required to establish satisfactory-academic-progress (SAP) standards for its federal and state financial aid recipients in accordance with the U.S. Department of Education regulations. These standards ensure that only those recipients demonstrating satisfactory progress toward the completion of their educational programs continue to receive financial aid. This policy is also in effect for students receiving institutional funds. Evaluation of a student's academic standing and progress for financial aid eligibility will be made at the end of each semester according to the following standards.

Completion Time

The In-Residence Master of Divinity degree program is a 6-semester program. Students will be allowed to receive nine semesters of financial aid. Students must be a least half time (4.5 credits) to qualify for financial aid.

The Distance Learning Master of Divinity degree program is a 5-year program. Students will be allowed to receive up to 7.5 years of financial aid. Students must take a minimum of 4.5 credits to qualify for financial aid.

The Master of Arts degree program is a 3-year program. Students must take 4.5 credits a semester in order to receive loans.

The Doctor of Ministry degree program is a 3-year program. Doctor of Ministry degree program students will be allowed to receive 4.5 years of financial aid.

Students must complete at least 67% of the credits they attempt in order to qualify. Withdrawals, incompletes, audits and failures are not earned hours. Transfer credits will be included in the number of completed hours.

Satisfactory Academic Progress

Students must maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.50 to qualify for financial aid (see Academic Probation) Warning/Probation

Title IV Aid and Institutional Funds

If a student does not meet the requirements for SAP, they will be placed on probation for one semester. During this time a student is eligible to receive Title IV aid and institutional funds. The Associate Dean will send a letter indicating the status and asking them to provide the office with a written plan to correct the status. This plan may include reduced course load or enrolling in specific courses. If the student completes the semester and meets the school's SAP standards or the requirements of the academic plan, Title IV program funds and institutional aid will be continued. If not, aid will be terminated until such time as standards are met. If a student is determined ineligible for aid because they fail to meet the requirements after the warning semester, they may appeal following the procedure below. Appeal Procedure

Students denied assistance due to the policy may appeal their case to the VPAA.

The appeal should be made in written form explaining the reason for failing to meet academic standards outlined in the policy. The basis on which a student may appeal are: the death of a relative, an injury or illness of the student, or other special circumstances. This appeal must be received by the VPAA in written form. In the case of an illness, a student may be required to submit a doctor's statement. Students will receive written notification of the VP's decision. Students who successfully appeal may be granted aid for one additional semester.

REVISED August 2023

Return of Title IV Funds Policy

This policy applies only to eligible US and eligible non-US citizens receiving Title IV funds, specifically the Federal Direct Student Loan. Title IV funds are awarded to a student under the assumption that he/she will attend school for the entire period for which the assistance is awarded. When a student withdraws from all his/her courses, for any reason including medical withdrawals, he/she may no longer be eligible for the full amount of Title IV funds that he/she was originally scheduled to receive. If the student withdraws from all his courses prior to completing over 60% of a semester, he/she may be required to repay a portion of the federal financial aid that he/she received for that term. A pro rata schedule is used to determine the amount of federal student aid funds he/she will have earned at the time of the withdrawal. Federal aid includes Federal Stafford Loan and Direct Student Loans.

The return of funds is based upon the concept that students earn their financial aid in proportion to the amount of time in which they are enrolled. Under this reasoning, a student who withdraws in the second week of classes has earned less of his/her financial aid than a student who withdraws in the seventh week. Once 60% of the semester is completed, a student is considered to have earned all of his financial aid and will not be required to return any funds.

A student's withdrawal date is:

• The date he/she officially withdrew with the office of the Registrar during the Registrar's withdrawal period.

• The date the student submitted his petition to withdraw to the office of the Registrar if the office of the Registrar's withdrawal period has ended and the student successfully petitioned to withdraw.

- The start date of the student's leave of absence, in the case of a graduate student.
- The date the student was expelled/dismissed from the seminary.
- The date the student died, if the student passed away during the semester.

The student must inform the Financial Aid Office (FAO) of any withdrawal occurring during a semester. The Financial Aid Office determines the return of Title IV funds percentage. Institutions are required to determine the percentage of Title IV aid "earned" by the student and to return the unearned portion to the appropriate aid program. Regulations require schools to perform calculations within 30 days from the date the school determines a student's complete withdrawal. The school must return the Funds within 45 days of the calculation.

The return of Title IV funds policy follows these steps:

Step 1: Student's Title IV information

The FAO will determine:

• The total amount of Title IV aid disbursed (Not aid that could have been disbursed) for the semester in which the student withdrew. A student's Title IV aid is counted as aid disbursed in the calculation if it has been applied to the student's account on or before the date the student withdrew.

• The total amount of Title IV aid disbursed plus the Title IV aid that could have been disbursed for the semester in which the student withdrew.

Step 2: Percentage of Title IV Aid Earned:

The FAO will calculate the percentage of Title IV aid earned as follows:

• The number of calendar days completed by the student divided by the total number of calendar days in the semester in which the student withdrew. The total number of calendar days in a semester shall exclude any scheduled breaks of five or more days.

• Days Attended ÷ Days in Enrollment Period = Percentage Completed

• If the calculated percentage exceeds 60%, then the student has "earned" all the Title IV aid for the enrollment period.

Step 3: Amount of Title IV Earned by the Student

The FAO will calculate the amount of Title IV earned as follows:

• The percentage of title IV aid earned (Step 2) multiplied by the total amount of Title IV aid disbursed or that could have been disbursed for the term in which the student withdrew.

• Total Aid Disbursed x Percentage Completed = Earned Aid

Step 4: Amount of Title IV Aid to be Disbursed or Returned:

• If the aid already disbursed equals the earned aid, no further action is required.

• If the aid already disbursed is greater than the earned aid, the difference must be returned to the appropriate Title IV aid program.

• Total Disbursed Aid – Earned Aid = Unearned Aid to be Returned

• If the aid already disbursed is less than the earned aid, the FAO will calculate a Post Withdrawal Disbursement.

Return of the Title IV Aid, based on the type of aid disbursed, in the following order: Federal Direct Student Loan

Loans must be repaid by the loan borrower as outlined in the terms of the borrower's promissory note. The student's grace period for loan repayments for Federal Unsubsidized and Subsidized Stafford Loans will begin on the day of the withdrawal from the seminary. The student should contact the lender if he/she has question regarding their grace period or repayment status. Institutional and student responsibility in regard to the Federal Return of Title IV Funds policy:

The FAO's responsibilities in regard to the Return of Title IV funds policy include:

• Providing each student with the information given in this policy;

• Identifying students affected by this policy and completing the Return of Title IV Funds calculation;

• Informing the student of the result of the Return of title IV Funds calculation and any balance owed to the seminary as a result of a required return of funds;

• Returning any unearned Title IV aid that is due to the Title IV programs and, if applicable, notifying the borrower's holder of federal loan funds of the student's withdrawal date;

• Notifying student of eligibility for a Post-Withdraw Disbursement, if applicable;

The student's responsibilities in regard to the Return of Title IV Funds policy include:

• Becoming familiar with the Return of Title IV Funds policy and how withdrawing from all his courses effects eligibility for Title IV aid;

• Resolving any outstanding balance owed to the seminary resulting from a required return of unearned Title IV aid.

The procedures and policies listed above are subject to change without advance notice.

Appendix C: Program Goals and Student Learning Outcomes

MASTER OF DIVINITY

Master of Divinity Purpose:

Western Theological Seminary's M.Div. degree cultivates an educational community of women and men, forming them for faithful, lifelong participation in the Triune God's ongoing redemptive work in the world as ministers in the local church and through other forms of leadership and service.

Master of Divinity Program Goals:

Graduating students will have a rich theological and pastoral framework by which to see the world and to discern how to serve the world in the name of Christ. This framework will be biblically grounded, historically informed, contextually alert, and developed in conversation with the Reformed tradition and a diversity of voices, past and present, here and around the world. By the end of their degree, students will be formed and equipped to:

- Know, love and worship the Triune God more deeply;
- Share their love of God in winsome ways;
- Love the Scriptures as the living word of God;
- Engage the world through the lens of the biblical narrative of redemption;
- Develop a hermeneutic that engages the biblical languages and enables them to interpret and be interpreted by the Bible thoughtfully and faithfully;
- Appreciate the sacraments as the signs and seals of God's grace;
- Preach God's word, administer the sacraments, build up the church, and shepherd God's people with biblical and theological insight and pastoral imagination;
- Live in healthy relationships;
- Demonstrate a resilient faith undergirded by the practice of wisdom and an awareness of God's presence;
- Attend to their own spiritual, vocational, and theological formation throughout their lives and ministries; and
- Discern what it means to love God and neighbor in whatever context they are called to serve.

Master of Divinity Student Learning Outcomes

Biblical Field Student Learning Outcomes:

- Students will be able to use at least one biblical language to interpret scripture
- Students will be able to utilize basic historical-grammatical methods to interpret scripture
- Students will be able to synthesize interpretive methods, interpreters' voices, and contemporary application(s) in their lives and the lives of those they serve.
- Students will be able to articulate and demonstrate the value of spiritual disciplines that utilize scripture for spiritual transformation

Christian Ministry Field Student Learning Outcomes:

- Graduates will be able to recognize the strengths and limitations of their personalities and navigate those strengths and weaknesses with self-confidence and humility as they engage others in ministry.
- Graduates will be able to analyze the socio-economic, cultural, and racial dimensions of their ministry settings and engage them competently.
- Graduates will be able to reflect theologically on their ministerial activities, integrating their biblical and theological knowledge.
- Graduates will be able to assess and improve their ministerial skills and actions.
- Graduates will be able to write their ideas clearly, concisely, creatively, and correctly.

Theology Field Student Learning Outcomes:

- Graduates will be able to articulate their understanding of the Christian faith with theological coherence and breadth in their writing.
- Graduates will demonstrate personal appropriation in the connections between theological affirmations and their own personal life and witness.
- Graduates will critically and creatively engage with their own theological tradition.
- Graduates will exhibit clarity of communication in articulating their understanding of the Christian faith to specified audiences.
- Graduates will be able to express integration of theological vision with the church's life and Witness

MASTER OF ARTS

Master of Arts Program Goal:

Graduating students will have deepened and broadened their biblical and theological knowledge and will be able to analyze specific academic and/or ministerial questions using that knowledge.

Master of Arts Student Learning Outcomes

- Graduates will demonstrate proficiency in the art of scholarly writing by constructing credible claims, developing compelling arguments, and persuasively interpreting sources in their chosen field of study
- Graduates will competently engage and utilize critical methodologies and diverse theological perspectives in their analysis of specific academic and/or ministerial questions
- Graduates will recognize and articulate how their interpretation of sources and construction of arguments are shaped by their own social and theological contexts

MASTER OF THEOLOGY

Master of Theology Program Goals:

- Graduates will be proficient at researching and writing at an upper academic level in a specific theological discipline.
- Graduates will research, write, and speak in a way that is attentive to contextual, cross-cultural, and/or tradition-specific issues.
- Graduates will be prepared to pursue more advanced theological research and/or to take on greater leadership within the church, theological institution, or ministry to which they are called.

Master of Theology Student Learning Outcomes

- Graduates will demonstrate proficiency in the art of scholarly writing.
- Graduates will be able to identify, understand, and competently use important sources in their chosen field of study.

- Graduates will be able to construct claims, create compelling arguments, and persuasively interpret sources in their chosen field of study.
- Graduates will understand and be able to identify how their sources and arguments are shaped by, have shaped, and/or might shape their own context, culture, and/or theological tradition.
- Those graduates of the WTS Th.M. program who write a thesis will understand and be able to identify the significant interactions between, on the one hand, their sources and arguments, and on the other hand, the history of and contemporary state of their field.
